

Ordinance on Junk Yards Again Before City Council

Circleville Council found itself on familiar ground last night when an ordinance proposing the licensing of junk yards in the city was introduced.

The new measure marks Council's second attempt in about a year to come up with a law designed to improve the city's appearance. A similar ordinance, one seeking required erection of fences around junk yards, was defeated in January of 1963 on a 3-3 vote. A majority was needed for passage.

Tuesday night's ordinance, complete with a list of descriptive terms, was held to a first reading. Solon John Jenkins introduced the measure, then immediately requested the legislation be held to an initial reading in order to allow Council and all persons concerned more time to study and consider the proposal.

Jenkins also authored the ordinance of 1963. He said the new legislation, in his opinion, is designed to benefit the community. "It is not directed against any one person or group," he added.

COMMENTING on the ordinance, Solicitor Kenneth Robbins said it is, in part, a rephrasing of state law passed in the last session of the Ohio Legislature. He said proper notations were made to fit city specifications.

President Harold Clifton classified the ordinance as an important one that should be placed in committee for thorough study before taking action on it. However, the solons moved for a first reading on the grounds that this would offer a closer look at the measure.

The definitions section of the ordinance defines "junk" as scrap copper, brass, rope, rags, batteries, paper, rubber, wrecked or dismantled autos, iron, steel and other materials which are not held for sale for remelting purposes by an establishment having facilities for such processing.

A "junk yard" is referred to as a place of business which is maintained or operated for the purpose of storing, keeping, buying or selling junk — or for the operation of an automobile graveyard. An exception pertains to establishments having facilities for processing ferrous and non-ferrous material for sale for remelting purposes. Another exception is an establishment where autos, wrecked or otherwise, are held or impounded for a period not to exceed 90 days for storage, repair or resale without alteration.

A "fence" is defined as an enclosure at least six feet in height, constructed of non-transparent material, maintained in a manner to obscure the junk within its confines. (Continued on Page Two)

Vandals Turn Helpers, Try To Save Old House

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The big house with its 20 or more rooms was grand when it was built half a century ago and its owner gave it a splendid name: Stony Glen.

Years of neglect have reduced it to a haunted house for the very young, a target for the adolescent vandal, and a blight in the eyes of the city.

It looks vacant. Many of the windows are broken and the roofing is peeling off the once-fine gables.

But in the basement lives Miss Adelia Mcneely Ashmore, an elderly woman who is almost a recluse.

The city Division of Public Health Engineering says the three-story house is unfit for human habitation and wants it cleaned up or Miss Ashmore out by next Monday.

She probably won't have to move, however, because her young friends are again coming to the rescue.

Every night for almost three summers, Paul Holmberg, 24, said he and three other young men have visited Miss Ashmore, guarding her from youths who heckled her, drove through the 13-acre yard, flashed lights, threw stones at the windows and made obscene phone calls.

The four were eventually joined by others, until about 25 had helped — three of them leaving the ranks of the hecklers.

They also cut the grass, cleaned the yard, painted and laid linoleum.

Miss Ashmore's brother, who lives in Branson, Mo., owns the house. He says as soon as he replaces windows, they are broken again by vandals. Miss Ashmore doesn't say much.

Last weekend when the city began pressing again that repairs be made, a group of teenagers began escorting groups through the house at a quarter apiece to raise money for the work.

SE Asian Talks Start

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos have begun negotiations for resumption of diplomatic relations, Premier Nguyen Khanh said today.

Other sources said Khanh met delegations from Cambodia and Laos in the mountain resort of Dalat over the weekend to arrange further negotiations.

Khanh told a news conference he is ready to meet with the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, "at any time, anywhere, except in a Communist country."

"With respect to Laos," Khanh continued, "we are ready to send a representative to Vientiane as soon as possible. We want to normalize diplomatic relations there. We are not like Ngo Dinh Diem, who refused to maintain diplomatic relations with Laos after they recognized North Viet Nam. We are ready to receive the ambassador of Laos in Saigon."

Two of three young men accused of killing a Malden policeman have been sentenced to life imprisonment.

Louis Ladetto, 17, of Cambridge, and Lawrence Guerra, 25 of Watertown, changed their pleas of innocent of first degree murder.

The third defendant, Peter Ladetto, 25, brother of Louis, remained on trial in a Middlesex County Superior Court.

New Demand Given Soviet

U.S. Asks Release Of Downed Fliers

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States made a new demand today for the release of three American fliers shot down in East Germany and warned that their continued detention jeopardizes U.S.-Soviet relations.

Charge d'Affaires Walter J. Stoessel presented the demand at the Soviet Foreign Office, coupling it with a denial of Soviet charges that the three men were on an espionage mission when their reconnaissance bomber was shot down on March 10.

The Russians have brushed aside several earlier demands for release of the airmen: Capt. David I. Holland, 35, of Holland, Minn., Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, of Philadelphia, and Lt. Harold W. Welch, 24, of Detroit.

Soviet officials notified U.S. military authorities in Frankfurt Monday that one of the fliers was injured and said an American doctor could visit him.

An Air Force flight surgeon went to the Soviet military hospital at Magdeburg, East Germany. He found Welch suffering from fractures of the right arm and left leg. The Russians refused to release Welch for treatment in the west.

The Soviets have given no information about Holland and Kessler, who parachuted with Welch when the jet bomber was shot down. They apparently landed safely and are in Soviet custody.

Communist officials in East Berlin have hinted that the three men may be tried as spies.

U.S. officials have insisted that the plane crossed into Communist air space accidentally on a routine training flight. They have also protested its being shot by a Soviet MIG. The Russians claim the American plane ignored a signal to land.

Boy Reads Newspapers At Age 4

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Paul Jones Jr. is a confirmed newspaper reader at the age of 4.

He reads encyclopedias from time to time, magazines and books, but prefers the newspaper. His parents say he frequently reads the newspaper through, and remembers most of what he has read.

"Yes, he definitely can read and understands what he is reading — within the realm of his experience," reported Linda Smart, a graduate assistant at Michigan State University's College of Education, who checked into the child prodigy.

His mother was particularly anxious to have him read well for a visiting newsmen. Paul wanted to ride his new bike.

The boy would read a few sentences at a time, then repeat his plea to be allowed to go out and play.

Finally, he sat on the floor and crossed his arms: "I'm takin' the Fifth Amendment," he said.

U.S. Flying Grandfather Is Rescued

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Max Conrad, America's flying grandfather, is reported in "fine shape" after being rescued from the Greenland icecap where he crashed landed a single-engine plane.

It was the 62-year-old pilot's first crash in nearly 14 years of cross-crossing oceans delivering single-engine planes to customers.

By his reckoning, he was making his 100th transatlantic solo flight Tuesday. Apparently trouble with the Italian Procaer Picchio F15 he was ferrying from Italy to Canada forced him down on the barren icecap in suzero weather.

The flier was less than five hours out of Reykjavik, Iceland, when he came down on terrain he described in a magazine article 12 years ago as "mountains, ice, rocks, no iron, no coal, no trees, nothing that man could use."

Luck was with him. He was on the ice only a short time before an Icelandic airliner spotted him. Another plane dropped warm clothing and food.

An Air Force spokesman in Washington said Conrad walked across a glacier from the wreck of his plane to the spot where a small fishing boat took him off the icecap. He was transferred to a Danish amphibious plane and flown to a U.S. air base in southern Greenland.

He was to be flown today to the Air Force base at Goose Bay, Labrador.

India May End Kashmir Truce; Pakistan-Red China Tie Bared

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told a cheering Parliament today that Indian troops will cross the cease-fire line in Kashmir if necessary to defend Indian territory against Pakistan.

"We are not prepared to go across the cease-fire line and attack the territory now under Pakistan occupation," Nehru said, "but obviously if it becomes necessary in the defense of our territory for them (Indian troops) to cross the line, then they will cross it."

Nehru's statement was the strongest made by any top official since the recent outbreak of skirmishing and raids across the cease-fire line in the disputed Himalayan state.

India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir in 1948 and have been quarreling over the state ever since.

Commenting on charges that the Pakistan government is investigating the border clashes, Nehru said: "I know it is a regular campaign."

Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan told Parliament 25 Pakistanis raided an Indian village 1½ miles on India's side of the cease-fire line Sunday night, killing four persons, including an 11-year-old boy.

Chavan said India had lodged a complaint with U.N. observers in Kashmir.

The Indian government has learned that Communist China and Pakistan have agreed to coordinate foreign and military policies affecting India, a high government official told The Associated Press earlier today.

The official, who declined to be quoted by name, said in an interview that India is revamping its policy on the assumption that in the future it will face two hostile neighbors working together rather than separately.

This indicated that the Indian government is discounting the possibility of making a separate diplomatic deal with either Pakistan or Communist China to relieve the pressure on at least part of its northern border.

Premier Chou En-lai of Red China visited Pakistan last month and won a pledge of close cooperation from President Mohammad Ayub Khan, but there was no public mention of any military or diplomatic collaboration.

Reports of skirmishes on the India-Pakistan border are reaching New Delhi in increasing numbers.

The Indian official said his government considers these skirmishes potentially dangerous but does not think an escalation into a greater conflict is threatened.

On the Chinese frontier, he said, there is no indication the Communists will try anything big in the near future. Red troops, however, are consolidating positions they won in the 1962 border war.

India regards the China-Pakistan collaboration as so close that it believes the Communists are virtually certain to push a road from Chinese territory deep into Pakistan, perhaps to the capital of Rawalpindi, the official said. Such a road has been rumored in Pakistan.

"The Chinese are now in Pakistan, and the two will be moving together from now on," he said.

DeGaulle Asks Exchange Plan

Mexico Is Given French Proposal

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle proposes that France and Mexico join in a big exchange program but says it wouldn't cut into Mexican relations with the United States.

De Gaulle told a joint session of the Mexican Congress Tuesday that Latin America is forging into "the foreground of the stage of world affairs." He made clear that he wants to increase French influence in the region.

The 73-year-old French leader suggested Mexico and France begin a large-scale program of scientific, cultural and technical exchanges and become "true and good companions in the work of civilization."

"Without a doubt such a rapprochement implies that the aim, the attitude, the action, in a word the policy of Mexico City and Paris, should not only be prevented from diverging but should actually be attuned," he said.

Before Congress and at a presidential luncheon at the National Palace, De Gaulle tried to ease fears in Washington that his visit might affect the closeness of U.S.-Mexican relations.

Any special relations between Mexico and France, he said at the luncheon, are not intended "to put an end or even to diminish the relations that bind us to our neighbors."

Before Congress he spoke of "Mexico which, without in any way underestimating the fact that her massive relations with her great northern neighbor are both natural and fertile, still feels attracted toward the European countries by all kinds of affinities and, in the first place, may I dare add, attracted to my own country."

De Gaulle ends his four-day state visit Thursday and will stop off at French colonies in the Caribbean before returning to France.

Greenfield Fire Cause Is Probed

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Fire Chief Tom Redkey said he would ask the state fire marshal today to investigate a big fire that destroyed two businesses and damaged several others in downtown Greenfield.

The blaze started early Tuesday night in the three-story Taylor Furniture Co. and later spread to another structure housing the Hamilton Electric Co. Redkey estimated damages at $60,000.

Firemen from seven communities fought the flames which for about two hours threatened to destroy half a city block. The fire was brought under control at 9 p.m.

Redkey declined to speculate on the cause pending the requested investigation.

LBJ Says U.S. Strength Lies in American Dream

NEW YORK (AP) — A self-styled "Irishman by osmosis," President Johnson told a St. Patrick's Day dinner "I have found our nation's greatest strength lies in the dream of America — America, the land of hope; America, the land of opportunity."

"All the slings and arrows of our opponents in the world have never succeeded in destroying that image," he said Tuesday night.

With jest and with serious talk, Johnson spoke to more than 2,500 members of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in a Waldorf-Astoria Hotel ballroom festooned with green streamers hanging from crystal chandeliers. The headtable was scarcely visible behind green carnations.

Explaining why he is Irish by osmosis, the President spoke of the Irishmen in high government places — associates in the White House, the speaker of the House, and the Senate Democratic leader.

"I woke up this morning," he said with a smile, "and suddenly realized that the Irish have taken over the government. And I like it."

He said the dinner was supposed to be a nonpartisan affair, but remarked that the Democratic party is "so peaceful the Irish may move to the Republican party where the feuding is really going on."

Then, turning serious, the President said St. Patrick's Day is one in which America shares in a very definite sense because the Irish who came here had a dream of freedom and dignity.

"Here a man could hold his head as high as any other," he said, "and worship his God as he chose, without ever accounting to a soldier with a bayonet."

To an audience that interrupted frequently with applause, Johnson said nothing is more important to him than making this a land whose compassion will be an example to the world's other 119 nations.

He said he wants the United States to be a land where the sick of body can find help and the sick of heart can find hope.

Boy-Sister Deaths Tied To Heredity

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A congenital heart defect was suggested today as the possible cause of the deaths of a brother and sister within two hours of each other here. In two generations, six other members of the same family also have died suddenly.

Edward Ambrose Martin, 15, a husky sophomore at St. Augustine's St. Joseph High School, collapsed and died Monday after running only 200 yards of a mile-and-a-half cross-country event.

His sister, Angelia Diane, 14, at home recovering from mumps, appeared to go into shock when her parents told her of his death. She was rushed to a hospital, where breathing was restored, but she was dead within two hours.

Another sister, Penny, 9, was found dead in shallow water in which she had been wading during a family outing in 1957. The cause of her death never was determined.

Dr. James J. Devito, the family doctor, said "several other members of the family have expired suddenly, with no known cause. Five children from two sisters and three adults have been stricken under similar circumstances in two generations."

Flood-Stricken Areas Designated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has received partial estimates of Ohio flood damage, and on the strength of these estimates, which total more than $3 million, wants flood-stricken areas designated disaster areas.

He made a formal request to President Johnson Tuesday for a disaster declaration that would qualify local governments for federal grants of $1,000 or more.

Federal money could be used to clear away debris and wreckage, protect health and sanitation and for emergency repairs to streets, bridges, levees, public buildings and similar facilities. Applications for grants will be handled by James F. Wooster, deputy director of civil defense.

Tribunal Kills Rhodes Plan

Supreme Court's Stand Unanimous

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court said today that the state may not make industrial loans to private corporations.

Without holding the entire 1963 statute unconstitutional, the high court dealt a body blow to Gov. James A. Rhodes' program to create thousands of jobs through loans to attract industry from other states and to expand Ohio plants.

The unanimous decision said use of public funds raised through bond issues by the newly-created Development Financing Commission could not be loaned for promotion of private business ventures.

"We are unanimously of the opinion that the proposed borrowing and lending by the commission . . . would represent a giving or loaning of the credit of the state of Ohio in the aid of private interests and are prohibited . . . by the Ohio Constitution," the court said.

Ohio Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, said the court decision is "almost a death sentence" for Rhodes in Ohio politics.

King said he is sorry the decision has set back plans to encourage industry to locate in Ohio but he said he is not surprised. The state senator said it backs up what he and other Democrats said during debate on the creation of development financing commission.

King admitted he and other leading Democrats voted for the bill. "We all hope it would work but we thought it was a futile effort," he said.

The minority leader said he would fight against changing the Ohio Constitution to permit loans. "The faith and credit of the state should not be used to support private purposes and to provide for personal private gain," King said.

Rhodes said he is undaunted by the court's decision. "There will be a job program for Ohio," he asserted in a statement before leaving for (Continued on Page Two)

Cassady To Shed Ties to Lounge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, former Ohio State football star now employed by the Ohio Youth Commission, has yielded to the demands of his boss and given up the idea of investing in a motel-cocktail lounge.

Cassady announced his decision Tuesday after being called on the carpet by Wayne Fogel, commission chairman. Fogel had given him 24 hours to make a decision.

The chairman said he felt it would be incompatible for Cassady to serve as his assistant and at the same time have an interest in a bar.

Ice Rink Problems Literally Melt Away

CHICAGO (AP) — A suit against a skating rink was dismissed in Circuit Court Tuesday when a judge decided the problem had literally melted away.

Frank P. Lawler sought $5,000 damages and asked the court to close a private skating rink on the grounds the skaters made too much noise and damaged his property.

Judge Cornelius J. Harrington dismissed the case, noting "the unseasonably warm weather has solved the problem by melting the ice."

Court Shuns Bid To Add Train Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Court efforts to obtain more frequent passenger train service than ordered for the New York-Central's Cleveland - Cincinnati line failed today.

The Ohio Supreme Court affirmed, 6-0, a Public Utilities Commission order for the railroad to return only one more train.

Nine cities and the Railroad Brotherhoods sued after the railroad discontinued two Cleveland-Cincinnati passenger trains and another operating between Cleveland and Columbus, leaving only one daylight train running between Cleveland and Cincinnati by way of Columbus.

The commission ordered restoration of train No. 321, operating from Cleveland to Cincinnati by way of Columbus and retention of train No. 16 running from Cincinnati to Cleveland in the daytime.

Cities joining in the suit for more service included: Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Delaware, Middle town, Dayton, Crestline, Gallon and Hamilton. The high court said it would not interfere with the commission's order because it appeared neither unreasonable nor unlawful.

Stock Prices Nudge Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in steels, motors and airlines helped nudge stock market averages further into new high ground early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to a point or so. The steels were meeting new investment demand in the wake of reports this week of the new boom in the steel industry. Autos also had an optimistic industry background.

Airlines continued to ride higher on a prediction of an unexpected profit for the industry in the first quarter.

Rails inched higher on balance following their moderate recovery of Tuesday on news that the threatened rail strike had faded for the time being. Cigarettes were lower. A sharp drop in cigarette sales was reported in February.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were made by several of the office equipment and photographic stocks.

London, Ohio, to address an industrial appreciation luncheon, one in a series being held over the state.

"We continue to be enthusiastic in our efforts to get jobs for our people," Rhodes said. "We will study the Supreme Court decision so guide lines can be established for a new program for jobs.

"We will redouble our efforts, energy and endeavor to make it possible for present industry to expand and to attract new industry to provide jobs for our people."

"We want a program for Ohio that fights unemployment. Unemployment is the blight of the dignity and decency of man.

"Let no one be discouraged about the future of Ohio's industrial growth."

The decision by Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft came in a friendly suit by Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe, at the governor's request, to test authority of the seven-member commission.

Commissioners had planned an initial $10 million bond issue and had approved more than $4 million in loans to about eight applicants.

The commission was created as the financial arm of the Department of Development, key-stone in Rhodes' program for opening 200,000 new jobs that he asserted would help cure such social ills as unemployment, poor relief, racial discrimination, school dropouts and juvenile delinquency.

Development Director George Wilson said scores of companies have applied for loans and that many others were "good prospects." Wilson has led teams of development experts to other states in efforts to recruit industry for Ohio.

Only Tuesday, Rhodes was told by a Detroit firm that it would abandon plans to erect a new plant in Bowling Green if the Supreme Court ruled against the program. It had sought a loan of $2,170,000 from the Ohio agency.

The firm is the Young Spring & Wire Corp., headed by T.C. Ellis, who said his company must begin construction next month or not at all.

Bowling Green's community Industrial & Development Corp., headed by Charles E. Bartlett, had told the governor the city had solved all local problems toward adding the Detroit firm to its industrial complex.

The Cleveland law firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey defended commissioners in the "quo warranto" action in which Saxbe inquired by what right they proposed to operate.

Commissioners are: Vance Brand of Woodstock, Austin E. Knowlton of Delaware, Wilbur D. Fulton of Cleveland, William C. Safford of Cincinnati, Paul E. Humes Jr. of Youngstown, Joseph Thomas of Akron and Milton Knight of Perrysburg.

Suit Filed For Violation Of Zone Laws

Harrison Twp. trustees are seeking an injunction against a Lockbourne area couple they claim is allegedly in violation of the township's zoning laws.

Named defendants of the suit are Russell and Ann Tope, Route 1, Lockbourne.

The board of trustees is objecting to a house trailer being maintained on the Tope's property which had been zoned in 1960 for agricultural purposes. A second objection concerns a Veterans of Foreign Wars Club that is also operated in the agricultural zone area.

The zoning resolution was certified by the Pickaway County Board of Elections in 1960. According to the petition, the resolution "classifies the defendants' real estate as agricultural."

The trustees are asking the court for a perpetual mandatory injunction requiring the Tope's to quit using their property for purposes other than those permitted by the zoning resolution. Robert H. Huffer, prosecutor, filed the action on behalf of the Harrison Twp. Board of Trustees.

Johnson Meat Import Policy Caught in Bind

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caught in the squeeze of international trade negotiations, the Johnson administration may be stockpiling some election troubles by resisting legislation to cut meat imports.

Republicans contend that the Western prairies are on fire with protests of cattle and sheep raisers. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., contends some cattlemen are "going broke because of boosted imports of beef, veal and mutton under voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand.

That there is Democratic concern over the matter was demonstrated by the action of Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana in proposing quotas which would limit such imports to the average of 1959-63 base period. Mansfield is seeking re-election in November.

Thus far, testimony in support of quotas of one kind or another has been taken by the Senate Finance Committee from North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Nebraska, Vermont, Virginia, Oklahoma and Hawaii.

Hruska and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman got into a shouting match about the matter in a hearing Tuesday before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Freeman testified that he is opposed to any legislation to place quotas on meat imports. He said the United States should wait to see if voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand don't strengthen domestic meat prices.

The secretary contended that only 15 per cent of the decline in prices paid to cattle raisers was caused by imports. He said 85 per cent could be attributed to an increase in domestic production. He promised to review the situation again next year.

Hruska said the cattlemen can't wait. "The patience of those people directly involved, who will be broke and bankrupt, will run out and they will say, 'You have to legislate,' he declared.

Freeman broke in to say that the Nebraska Republican, who is seeking re-election this year, was making "a campaign speech.

"I resent that very much, Hruska fired back. 'This is not a political speech. That is the feeling of the people of the Midwest.

Freeman retorted that he knew a political speech when he heard one because "I make enough of them." Unmentioned in this exchange was the fact that the Johnson administration is trying to keep its record clear of quota restrictions when it goes into international negotiations in Geneva in mid-May seeking to get the European Common Market to lower some of its barriers against American farm products.

A measure of success in such endeavors would be calculated to raise the administrations standing among farmers generally. It would not necessarily mitigate the resentment of cattle and sheep raisers at the low prices they still may be receiving in November.

More High Winds Face Fire Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Fire-mca raced today against forecasts of more high winds to secure boundaries of three disastrous brush fires before gusts can churn them up again.

Three wind-whipped fires were contained Tuesday after destroying at least 20 homes and charring 11,600 acres of brush.

Gusts up to 100 miles an hour fanned the flames Monday in the foothills northeast of Los Angeles.

Insurance companies estimate damage at $4 million.

Looking at forecasts of 25 m.p.h. winds for today, County Fire Chief Keith Klinger said: "It's a race against time to make sure that all hot spots are extinguished."

Two hundred firemen remain on the Weldon Canyon area blaze, 20 miles northeast of Los Angeles, where 2,500 acres of watershed were burned over.

Another 300 mopped up hot spots on the severely-hit Burbank-Glendale areas, just 12 miles from downtown Los Angeles in the Verdugo and San Rafael Hills.

U.N. Force Given Orders

Thant To Retain Complete Control

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U. Thant says the "terms of reference" of the U.N. Cyprus force are no problem. He alone will negotiate them with any government.

A spokesman said Tuesday night Thant has already sent the commander of the U.N. peace force a set of principles for the force assembling on the Mediterranean island.

Diplomatic sources said Thant decreed that the force: —Should not interfere in the internal affairs of Cyprus.

—Should not use its arms to disarm Greek or Turkish Cypriots.

—Should only fire in self-defense.

—Should cooperate with but remain independent of the U.N. mediator who is to try to work out a political settlement between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Thant's spokesman said the secretary-general had reserved the right to issue directives personally because of "the purely international character and responsibilities of the force."

Thant hopes to build up a 7,000-man force by absorbing half of the 7,000 British troops policing the island and replacing the rest with soldiers from half a dozen other nations. He has pledges of 1,150 from Canada, 700 from Finland, 700 from Sweden and 500 from Ireland.

Late Winter Blast Brings Low Reading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wave of late winter cold air which surged from Canada into the heart of the nation fanned out toward the East Coast today, plummeting temperatures toward the zero mark.

Many readings ranging from zero to 10 above were reported in the Midwest and New England.

The coldest was International Falls, Minn., where the mercury dropped to -5 just two days before the official start of spring.

Spring officially arrives at 9:10 a.m. EST Friday.

Temperatures were below freezing from the Dakotas, northwestern Nebraska and northern Missouri eastward through the central and northern Appalachians.

Maine was the icebox in New England, with Millinocket reporting 6 above and Houlton 8.

Cold waves also struck Western Maryland, northwestern Virginia and West Virginia.

Snow flurries occurred along the southern and eastern shores of the Great Lakes and from the upper Ohio Valley into New England. In New York State, snow slowed traffic in Binghamton, Rochester and Syracuse.

One inch of new snow in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., gave that community 19 inches on the ground.

Doctors Said 'Too Timid'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Many of the nation's doctors are "too timid to take a stand" for pending medicare legislation, the Consumers League of Ohio has been told.

Twenty-five per cent of this country's doctors favor medicare but are intimidated by organized medicine, Dr. Kenneth W. Clement, president of the National Medical Association, said Tuesday.

The 68-year-old University Heights surgeon also criticized the Ohio State Medical Association's "all is well" report of the Ohio medical scene given to the House Ways and Means Committee.

"In four pages of statements they did not mention nursing homes once," he said. "And this was right after the Fitchville fire, when Gov. (James A.) Rhodes was declaring nursing home emergencies."

The nursing home fire in Fitchville last November claimed 63 lives.

Ohio Housewife Set for Flight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38-year-old Columbus housewife and mother, has delayed until Thursday her take off on a planned around-the-world solo flight.

Mrs. Mock, who seeks to establish a women's record, now proposes to begin her flight from Port Columbus Thursday about 8 a.m.

She will pilot a single-engine Cessna which did not arrive in Columbus until early today from Wichita, Kan. A fuel system had been installed there. She hopes to complete the world flight in 90 days or less.

Her first stop will be Bermuda. From there her scheduled stops, adapted to both weather and world political conditions, includes the Azores, Casablanca, Tunis, Cairo, Beirut Island, Karachi, Bombay, Madras, Singapore, Manila, Guam, Wake, Honolulu, San Francisco, and back to Columbus.

Mrs. Mock said the time it takes here to return to Port Columbus, including stopovers, automatically establishes the women's speed record for around-the-world flight. This, she said, is under the regulations of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, for both an around-the-world speed record for a woman and a record first for planes in the weight class of her Cessna. She added that the federation has sanctioned her trip.

Where did she get the idea of the flight? "I just love to fly and like to travel," the diminutive aviatrix said. She added that her husband, Russell, a Columbus advertising man, as well as her children, had given her encouragement.

While she is gone, her mother-in-law will care for her family, including sons Roger, 17, Gary, 16, and daughter Valerie, 3 1/2.

She has no fear in her mind about the trip. Although she majored in aeronautical engineering at Ohio State University, she considers herself only "an amateur mechanic."

But she says: "I'm not going to take any chances. I feel that if an engine is in good condition it is not going to quit. You just eliminate the reasons why it would quit beforehand. Flying can be just as safe as you make it."

Mrs. Mock has logged more than 750 flying hours, and she has held a pilot's license for seven years. She has been planning the trip for a year, and for the last two months has been hard at work putting the finishing touches on her plane and getting her passport visas and other governmental regulations in order.

Meanwhile, another woman flier started the second leg of her round-the-world flight. She is a Californian, Joan Marriam.

Miss Merriam, 27, a blonde test pilot from Long Beach, Calif., began her trip Tuesday in Oakland, Calif., where she plans to touch down again April 14 after completing her flight.

She is following the route mapped out by the late Amelia Earhart in 1937. Before taking off this morning, Miss Merriam said, "I just want to complete a page of history."

Miss Merriam had planned to spend the night in Tucson and take off shortly after daybreak. But Tuesday night the weather closed in on her proposed route. She did some hasty figuring and changed her route.

So far she hasn't had a wink of sleep.

Miss Merriam hopes to become the first woman to fly around the world alone.

Miss Earhart vanished over the Pacific during a world flight in 1937.

"Miss Merriam" is the flying name of the diminutive blonde. She is the wife of Navy Lt. Cmdr. Marvin G. Smith Jr., who helped her plan the flight for the past 16 months.

Formation of a Lutheran Brotherhood local branch at Trinity Lutheran church, Circleville, has been announced by Carl F. Granrud, chairman of the board of directors and chief executive of Lutheran Brotherhood, fraternal insurance society.

The society contributed $614,800 to its branches during the past five years for such activities, including nearly $147,000 in 1963.

Lutheran Brotherhood has home offices in Minneapolis. The society offers both life and health insurance protection to all qualified Lutherans. This year it has budgeted more than $700,000 for a wide variety of fraternal activities.

Court Shuns Bid to Add Train Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Court efforts to obtain more frequent passenger train service than ordered for the New York-Cleveland-Cincinnati line failed today.

The Ohio Supreme Court affirmed, 6-0, a Public Utilities Commission order for the railroad to return only one more train.

Nine cities and the Railroad Brotherhoods sued after the railroad discontinued two Cleveland-Cincinnati passenger trains and another operating between Cleveland and Columbus, leaving only one daylight train running between Cleveland and Cincinnati by way of Columbus.

The commission ordered restoration of train No. 321, operating from Cleveland to Cincinnati by way of Columbus and retention of train No. 16 running from Cincinnati to Cleveland in the daytime.

Cities joining in the suit for more service included: Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Delaware, Middletown, Dayton, Crestline, Galion and Hamilton.

The high court said it would not interfere with the commission's order because it appeared neither unreasonable nor unlawful.

Stock Prices Nudge Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in steels, motors and airlines helped nudge stock market averages further into new high ground early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to a point or so. The steels were meeting new investment demand in the wake of reports this week of the new boom in the steel industry. Autos also had an optimistic industry background.

Airlines continued to ride higher on a prediction of an unexpected profit for the industry in the first quarter.

Rails inched higher on balance following their moderate recovery of Tuesday on news that the threatened rail strike had faded for the time being.

Cigarettes were lower. A sharp drop in cigarette sales was reported in February.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were made by several of the office equipment and photographic stocks.

Cleveland Patrolman Is Shot by His Wife

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland patrolman James D. Mangan died in St. John's Hospital early today of a bullet wound in his chest inflicted by his wife, Eleanor, 29, police said.

The shooting Tuesday night in the couple's home was preceded by a violent quarrel, officials said. Mrs. Mangan was held without charge for further questioning.

Suit Filed For Violation Of Zone Laws

Harrison Twp. trustees are seeking an injunction against a Lockbourne area couple they claim is allegedly in violation of the township's zoning laws.

Named defendants of the suit are Russell and Ann Tope, Route 1, Lockbourne.

The board of trustees is objecting to a house trailer being maintained on the Tope's property which had been zoned in 1960 for agricultural purposes. A second objection concerns a Veterans of Foreign Wars Club that is also operated in the agricultural zoned area.

The zoning resolution was certified by the Pickaway County Board of Elections in 1960. According to the petition, the resolution "classifies the defendants' real estate as agricultural."

The trustees are asking the court for a perpetual mandatory injunction requiring the Tope's to quit using their property for purposes other than those permitted by the zoning resolution.

Robert H. Huffer, prosecutor, filed the action on behalf of the Harrison Twp. Board of Trustees.

Johnson Meat Import Policy Caught in Bind

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caught in the squeeze of international trade negotiations, the Johnson administration may be stockpiling some election troubles by resisting legislation to cut meat imports.

Republicans contend that the Western prairies are on fire with protests of cattle and sheep raisers. Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., contends some cattlemen are "going broke because of boosted imports of beef, veal and mutton under voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand.

That there is Democratic concern over the matter was demonstrated by the action of Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana in proposing quotas which would limit such imports to the average of 1959-63 base period. Mansfield is seeking re-election in November.

Thus far, testimony in support of quotas of one kind or another has been taken by the Senate Finance Committee from North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Nebraska, Vermont, Virginia, Oklahoma and Hawaii.

Hruska and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman got into a shouting match about the matter in a hearing Tuesday before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Freeman testified that he is opposed to any legislation to place quotas on meat imports. He said the United States should wait to see if voluntary agreements with Australia and New Zealand don't strengthen domestic meat prices.

The secretary contended that only 15 per cent of the decline in prices paid to cattle raisers was caused by imports. He said 85 per cent could be attributed to an increase in domestic production. He promised to review the situation again next year.

Hruska said the cattlemen cant wait.

"The patience of those people directly involved, who will be broke and bankrupt, will run out and they will say, 'You have to legislate,' he declared.

Freeman broke in to say that the Nebraska Republican, who is seeking re-election this year, was making "a campaign speech.

"I resent that very much, Hruska fired back. "This is not a political speech. That is the feeling of the people of the Midwest.

Freeman retorted that he knew a political speech when he heard one because "I make enough of them."

Unmentioned in this exchange was the fact that the Johnson administration is trying to keep its record clear of quota restrictions when it goes into international negotiations in Geneva n mid-May seeking to get the European Common Market to lower some of its barriers against American farm products.

A measure of success in such endeavors would be calculated to raise the administrations standing among farmers generally. It would not necessarily mitigate the resentment of cattle and sheep raisers at the low prices they still may be receiving in November.

U.N. Force Given Orders

Thant To Retain Complete Control

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant says the "terms of reference" of the U.N. Cyprus force are no problem. He alone will issue directives and he won't negotiate them with any government.

A spokesman said Tuesday night Thant has already sent the commander of the U.N. peace force a set of principles for the force assembling on the Mediterranean island.

Diplomatic sources said Thant decreed that the force: —Should not interfere in the internal affairs of Cyprus.

—Should not use its arms to disarm Greek or Turkish Cypriots.

—Should only fire in self-defense.

—Should cooperate with but remain independent of the U.N. mediator who is to try to work out a political settlement between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Thant's spokesman said the secretary-general had reserved the right to issue directives personally because of "the purely international character and responsibilities of the force."

Thant hopes to build up a 7,000-man force by absorbing half of the 7,000 British troops policing the island and replacing the rest with soldiers from half a dozen other nations. He has pledges of 1,150 from Canada, 700 from Finland, 700 from Sweden and 500 from Ireland.

Late Winter Blast Brings Low Reading

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wave of late winter cold air which surged from Canada into the heart of the nation fanned out toward the East Coast today, plummeting temperatures toward the zero mark.

Many readings ranging from zero to 10 above were reported in the Midwest and New England.

The coldest was International Falls, Minn., where the mercury dropped to -5 just two days before the official start of spring.

Spring officially arrives at 9:10 a. m. EST Friday.

Temperatures were below freezing from the Dakotas, northwestern Nebraska and northern Missouri eastward through the central and northern Appalachians.

Maine was the icebox in New England, with Millinocket reporting 6 above and Houlton 8 Cold waves also struck Western Maryland, northwestern Virginia and West Virginia.

Snow flurries occurred along the southern and eastern shores of the Great Lakes and from the upper Ohio Valley into New England. In New York State, snow slowed traffic in Binghamton, Rochester and Syracuse.

One inch of new snow in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., gave that community 19 inches on the ground.

Doctors Said 'Too Timid'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Many of the nation's doctors are "too timid to take a stand" for pending medicare legislation, the Consumers League of Ohio has been told.

Twenty-five per cent of this country's doctors favor medicare but are intimidated by organized medicine, Dr. Kenneth W. Clement, president of the National Medical Association, said Tuesday.

The 68-year-old University Heights surgeon also criticized the Ohio State Medical Association's "all is well" report of the Ohio medical scene given to the House Ways and Means Committee.

"In four pages of statements they did not mention nursing homes once," he said. "And this was right after the Fitchville fire, when Gov. (James A.) Rhodes was declaring nursing home emergencies."

The nursing home fire in Fitchville last November claimed 63 lives.

Ohio Housewife Set for Flight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38-year-old Columbus housewife and mother, has delayed until Thursday her take off on a planned around-the-world solo flight.

Mrs. Mock, who seeks to establish a women's record, now proposes to begin her flight from Port Columbus Thursday about 8 a. m.

She will pilot a single-engine Cessna which did not arrive in Columbus until early today from Wichita, Kan. A fuel system had been installed there. She hopes to complete the world flight in 90 days or less.

Her first stop will be Bermuda. From there her scheduled stops, adapted to both weather and world political conditions, includes the Azores, Casablanca, Tunis, Cairo, Beirut Island, Karachi, Bombay, Madras, Singapore, Manila, Guam, Wake, Honolulu, San Francisco, and back to Columbus.

Mrs. Mock said the time it takes here to return to Port Columbus, including stopovers, automatically establishes the women's speed record for around-the-world flight. This, she said, is under the regulations of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, for both an around-the-world speed record for a woman and a record first for planes in the weight class of her Cessna. She added that the federation has sanctioned her trip.

Where did she get the idea of the flight?

"I just love to fly and like to travel," the diminutive aviatrix said. She added that her husband, Russell, a Columbus advertising man, as well as her children, had given her encouragement.

While she is gone, her mother-in-law will care for her family, including sons Roger, 17, Gary, 16, and daughter Valerie, 3½.

She has no fear in her mind about the trip. Although she majored in aeronautical engineering at Ohio State University, she considers herself only "an amateur mechanic."

But she says: "I'm not going to take any chances. I feel that if an engine is in good condition it is not going to quit. You just eliminate the reasons why it would quit beforehand. Flying can be just as safe as you make it."

Mrs. Mock has logged more than 750 flying hours, and she has held a pilot's license for seven years. She has been planning the trip for a year, and for the last two months has been hard at work putting the finishing touches on her plane and getting her passport visas and other governmental regulations in order.

Meanwhile, another woman flier started the second leg of her around-the-world flight. She is a Californian, Joan Merriam.

Miss Merriam, 27, a blonde test pilot from Long Beach, Calif., began her trip Tuesday in Oakland, Calif., where she plans to touch down again April 14 after completing her flight.

She is following the route mapped out by the late Amelia Earhart in 1937. Before taking off this morning, Miss Merriam said, "I just want to complete a page of history."

Miss Merriam had planned to spend the night in Tucson and take off shortly after daybreak. But Tuesday night the weather closed in on her proposed route. She did some hasty figuring and changed her route.

So far she hasn't had a wink of sleep.

Miss Merriam hopes to become the first woman to fly around the world alone.

Miss Earhart vanished over the Pacific during a world flight in 1937.

"Miss Merriam" is the flying name of the diminutive blonde. She is the wife of Navy Lt. Cmdr. Marvin G. Smith Jr., who helped her plan the flight for the past 16 months.

The men's club at the church has been constituted as the branch. Officers are George Weller, president; Jerry Anderson, vice president; Gladden Troutman, secretary; and Harold Hoffman, treasurer. The Rev. Carl G. Zehner is pastor of the church.

Lutheran Brotherhood has more than 2,900 local branches from coast to coast, including 190 in Ohio, which conduct fraternal activities on the congregational level.

The society contributed $614,800 to its branches during the past five years for such activities, including nearly $147,000 in 1963.

Lutheran Brotherhood has home offices in Minneapolis. The society offers both life and health insurance protection to all qualified Lutherans. This year it has budgeted more than $700,000 for a wide variety of fraternal activities.

Economic Expediency?

General De Gaulle's recognition of Peking might be rationalized on grounds of economic expediency, even necessity. The French economy, now reaching a high state of mechanization, must have overseas markets or wither. Mainland China's hundreds of millions of needy constitute such a market, providing a suitable exchange can be arranged.

For De Gaulle, the potential evidently is worth the gamble. But the need for such trade is mutual and hardly commands the sponsorship of France's leaders, whose political instruments are murder and pillage. What beside embarrassment to old allies could General De Gaulle derive from championing Red China's admission into the respected councils of the World Health Organization?

Surely the general is capable of higher statesmanship than this effort to wedge Red China into the United Nations by way of a back door. Only the communist clique found itself in sympathy with France's gesture.

Just last week, French Ambassador Alphonse Juin took pains to assure an audience in Detroit that "by sentiment and by interest France remains a friend and ally of the United States, as she has never ceased to be for two centuries." Alphonse seems to be as remote from the presidential palace as President Johnson and Secretary Rusk.

Don't Bet on Tunnel

Almost every generation of Britons has had its crack at the emotional experience of trying to build a tunnel linking Britain with the continent, since the idea was first proposed by a Frenchman in 1802.

Countless studies and engineering recommendations have been made in the last century and a half, and tunnel construction was even underway for more than 10 years in the late nineteenth century, but always a war or financial or political crisis developed to cause abandonment of the idea.

In each instance the excitement preceding disappointment must have been similar to the flurry of activity now going on in preparation for the latest attempt to build a tunnel. This time, the preliminary maneuvering took a different twist when an anti-tunnel group appeared to push hard for a bridge to span the channel.

Fog and frequent freezing conditions doomed the bridge advocates, however, and the tunnel is again the thing. Both the French and English governments are in agreement on the basic concept, the cost does not seem exorbitant for such an engineering feat, and the idea for using the tunnel for a multi-track railway system which can carry both large and small numbers of automobiles as well as freight does seem the most practical.

Yet, like all the other projects before this one, after all the basic agreements have been reached, the tunnel still has not progressed beyond the talking stage. Neither government has given its official approval, no funds have been appropriated for its construction, and the months roll on.

The story has been repeated so many times up to this point it almost seems like a game which has as its point not the construction of the tunnel, but the development of a climax just short of construction.

Still, cautious optimism on both sides of the channel holds that sometime in 1964 the first spade of dirt will be tossed to begin what would be one of the world's marvels in direct communications. But don't bet on it.

Hope for Anti-Communists?

By John Chamberlain

Something interesting is happening in Washington: the advocates of a hard line in relation to Cuba and the Castroites' attempted Communist subversion of Latin America no longer find their channels of communication to the White House blocked, as they did during the aftermath of the missile crisis settlement. And meanwhile, in London, U. S. policy planner Walt Whitman Rostow, the old symbol of "disengagement" in the State Department, makes a speech to British businessmen breathing anything but a spirit of disengagement vis-à-vis Castro.

Whether this really represents a "new" Rostow is a point of contention among those who have kept close watch on his career since he left the field of international studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to prepare position papers for the State Department. Rostow is, of course, the author of a book that attempts to give an underpinning in abstract economic theory to British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's idea that fat Communists are less menacing than lean ones. He has also been the

State Department's leading theoretician in presenting the paradoxical notion that the way to encourage freedom inside the captive nations in eastern Europe is to deal in a friendly way with their Soviet stooge governments. But the "new" Rostow, asked to comment on Sir Alec's remarks about fat Communists, said: "The sources of aggression are far more complicated than that simplification. We had a fat Germany that gave us a very hard time."

Such a statement would lead one to believe that Rostow is beginning to wonder about the alleged virtues of "disengagement" anywhere. His friends say that he always made a distinction between neutralist postures in faraway theatres such as the Danube Valley and Formosa Strait and disengagement in close-up areas such as the Caribbean Sea. "Rostow," says one of these friends, "may have been for relaxing pressures against Communism in central Europe, where it would be difficult to use our power, but he has supported engagement in places where it would be easier to employ our strength, such as in Cuba."

The significance of the Rostow London speech is that the so-called "hard liners" inside the government have been unmuzzled. They are being permitted to cohere more or less openly around the figure of Thomas Mann, Lyndon Johnson's coordinator of affairs for Latin America.

As the top coordinator, Mann, of course, listens to all sides. But his most sympathetic ear is given to State Department employees who, prior to last December, were not letting the world know that they had any differences with the official line toward Latin America.

The unmuzzling of the hard liners may not lead to any satisfactory disposition of the Cuban menace tomorrow. For the truth is that Castro is getting stronger all the time. The news that filters in from Cuba, by way of monitored reports of Castroite intra-government radio communications that mention such details as "deliver oxygen to such-and-such a cave," indicates that any slipshod planning of a new invasion would result in a disaster that would make the Bay of Pigs look like a lost minor skirmish. Air cover for any anti-Castro Cuban invasion of the island would have to reckon with ground-to-air missiles and a Soviet-trained Castroite air force. But at the very least the unmuzzling of the hard liners should guarantee that better use will be made of the plentiful information about the Soviet military build-up in Cuba. The information has always been there, but the difficulty has been to get it properly collated for use by CIA and State Department higher-ups.

It wasn't so long ago that the committee set up to review the Cuban situation was complaining that no detailed summary of the state of the resistance movement inside Cuba could be had. Such a summary had to be gotten up from scratch. But now that the hard liners are in a position to use their time constructively, the promise is that things like this will not happen again.

Are all these straws in the wind an indication that there is still hope for the anti-Communist cause? Or are they merely a display designed to keep people quiet until after the election? We shall see. Anyway, it will be interesting to keep tabs on the "new" Walt Rostow's speeches.

THE HAZARDS involved in the acting profession were emphasized when a thespian suddenly collapsed on stage in the middle of Act Two. The manager rushed out of the wings, examined the fallen star, then explained to the audience that the poor man, in his haste to get his make-up on, had dipped his false mustache into ether instead of gum arabic—and had anesthetized himself!

An African chieftain's daughter was offered as a bride to the son of a neighboring potentate in exchange for two cows and four sheep. It was agreed that the big swap was to be effected on the shore of the swift-flowing stream that separated the tribes. Pop and his daughter showed up at the appointed time on one side of the stream only to discover that the bridegroom and his livestock were waiting on the other side.

"Stupid fool," grunted the father of the bride. "He doesn't seem to know which side his bride is bartered on."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Our family has been exposed to a friend who has just been notified that he has active tuberculosis. We have not heard much about tuberculosis in the past few years. Has it been completely wiped out?

We had chest X-rays taken at the Board of Health and were told that nothing is wrong, but we are still afraid the disease might develop later on. Can we be vaccinated or immunized against tuberculosis, just like against other contagious diseases?

H.R., Ohio
Dear Mr. R.: Your letter brings up a matter of great importance. It highlights the need to emphasize that tuberculosis is still a prevalent, and active, contagious disease.

Having been exposed to an active case of tuberculosis does not mean that you or your family will necessarily contract the disease. The chances are that you will not become infected. Nevertheless, X-rays of the chest should be reassuring. Clinical examination by the family physician, too, is of great value in detection of tuberculosis, and is always advisable as a routine, sensible health measure.

At present, there is no universally acceptable form of immunization or vaccination against tuberculosis, although there are effective treatments.

Since the discovery of antibiotics and the sulfa drugs, patients who might otherwise never have recovered are now once again healthy, productive members of the community, due to the use of these medications. Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. It is also, in most instances, curable. Complete cure depends primarily on early detection. For this reason, yearly X-rays of the lungs and regular medical examinations are recommended as precautionary measures.

Although the advancements of medical science have contributed greatly to the control and cure of tuberculosis, and have minimized the threat of this disease, we should never casually disregard the gift of health. It is still true that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Having a Ball on Broadway

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—In show business they're never happy all the way until they prove themselves on Broadway.

That's the way Steve Lawrence felt. He had made it big as a television, recording and night club star.

He is starring now in a musical about a young Hollywood heel who throws away love and friendship—and just about every other decent human virtue—to keep from being "a loser."

It is a show that didn't stand the drama critics on their ears, but the public is going for it.

The big reason is the bouncy zest that Steve brings to the title role. In every ambitious human heart, there is a bit of willingness to sacrifice others to win our goals, and Steve brings the point home in a memorable way.

Lawrence, who could be making a lot more money singing to supper audience, is having a ball on Broadway.

"It's a very rewarding feeling," he remarked over a luncheon of a bloody mary and a pot of tea. "It has a separate kind of glow."

"But I think it would be harder for a performer to go from Broadway to the night clubs than vice versa. The night club field is a lot rougher one."

He is hopeful the musical will be a stepping-stone to the films. "The more fields you can perform in the more you increase your chances of longevity. You don't want to outwear your welcome with the public, and you're less likely to do this if you are active in more than a single medium."

Steve, the son of a Brooklyn cantor, sang in choirs as a child, quit school in his senior year because a best-selling record, "Poinciana," put him in the $150 a week bracket as a club singer.

During a two-year stint in the Army he subsequently studied his way to a high school diploma.

"That was one of the hardest things I ever did," he observed. "I had been away from the hyphenated of a right angle triangle for many years. It was hard to go back."

Steve doesn't share the dog-eat-dog philosophy of Sammy, the pepped-up cynic of author Budd Schulberg's 1941 book.

"To me life is largely a compromise," Lawrence said, "and it's lived pretty much on the 50-yard line of a football field. You never quite make a touchdown."

"Everybody has to compromise between what he'd like to have and what he actually gets. But you have to pick your own level of compromise."

"Most people defeat themselves. They either go about a situation wrongly, or they give up too soon."

"But I believe anybody who puts honest dedication, intelligence, and perseverance into his work will wind up with something better than a kick in the face. He'll have some measure of success."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Is the business upturn from the 1960 recession catching its second wind or is the economy starting an entirely new cycle of its own?

Most observers have looked on last summer's dip and the mild recovery of industrial production from October through December as just one of those hesitations that come in most recoveries from recessions.

They date the present upturn as starting in February and March of 1961, and now pretty old as recoveries go.

But new pep in the economy in recent weeks has given a talking point for the minority holding that last summer and fall could be classed as a new-style recession—the mildest on record, perhaps, but a real one. And thus the current jump in industrial production is the start of a new general upswing.

This point of view is held by those championing the new philosophy that old business cycles are outmoded. If so, this would mean that recessions in the future will be no more than what we've previously regarded as hesitations.

It's a heart-warming theory, although far from proved, and far from generally accepted.

What is certain is that the Federal Reserve Board reports its industrial production index made its largest advance in February since last October. Based on the 1957-59 average as 100, the index in February hit a record 127.6, up from January's 127.2, and compared with a year ago figure of 120.2. The index climbed in the first part of 1963 and then dipped by one point in August and September. In all, the seven months prior to February were dubbed sluggish by the old school economists, and a slight recession by the new school.

The February advance is credited largely to the demand for automobiles and other consumer goods. It was accompanied by a rise in retail sales and brisk construction activity. This consumer demand is working back to manufacturers in the form of new orders. So the gains in industrial output are expected to continue through the spring—whether this be a renewed spurt of an old upturn or the start of a new cycle.

Also counted upon to help are tax reduction, corporate profit increases, and the heady scent of rising stock prices.

Whatever today's general business upturn is dubbed, it is expected by almost all the experts to last through most of this year. Some are doubtful about next year, but the hardy band championing the new economic theory think 1965 will see further improvement.

Film Director John Ford Proves To Be Nice Guy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Ford, who has made more movie classics than any other director, made one of his rare public appearances this week and received the homage that is due to him.

He showed up at UCLA for a program in the extension division's series of tributes to American directors. He turned out to be warm, human and lovable, in contrast to his reputation as an irascible bear.

His arrival caused university and Directors Guild officials to sigh with relief. Ford seldom showed up to collect his own Oscars—"The Informer," 1935; "Grapes of Wrath," 1940; "How Green Was My Valley," 1941;

"The Quiet Man," 1952. Ford seemed delighted with all the attention, watched with interest clips from films like "The Informer"—not one of his favorites—"They Were Expendable" and "My Darling Clementine."

Only at his introduction did he seem his peppery self. When described as having been everything in the film industry including actor, he shouted, "I deny it."

Later, however, he wouldn't go along with Alfred Hitchcock's jest that "actors are cattle." Said Ford: "I would never say that actors are cattle. A good many of them are real pros. I have never run into any temperament in 45 years of directing."

If members of the Ford stock company had been present they might have added they wouldn't dare show temper around the old man.

Ford was asked what message his films carry. He turned to director George Sidney and asked "What was it Sam Goldwyn said about messages?"

Sidney supplied the answer: "Let Western Union carry them."

He confirmed a legend which demonstrates his disregard for scripts and for the meddling of executives. He said that the son of a very rich man came down to his set one day and complained that the picture was four days behind schedule. Ford tore out a handful of script pages and gave them to the young man.

"Here," he said, "Now I'm three days ahead."

Sinking Fund Hit By Legal Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A former state legislator from Columbus wants a state supreme court order to make Ohio's Sinking Fund Commission pay back $24.5 million received last month for selling highway certificates.

The petitioner is Paul J. Lynch, who asked for a writ of mandamus. He says the commission sold certificates of obligation, having face value of $25 million, to Saloman Brothers & Hutzlar of New York City for $24.5 on Feb. 15.

Lynch claims this is an unconstitutional debt. He said he asked the attorney general to take action, but was turned down.

New Hope Held for Ailing Boy

CLEVELAND (AP) — Kidney disease struck hard at young Allan Scott Pert Jr. last summer. A doctor told the boy's parents to take him home to the house in Garden City, Mich., and make him comfortable. There was nothing else they could do.

"They told us that he was going to die within a couple of weeks," said Allan's father.

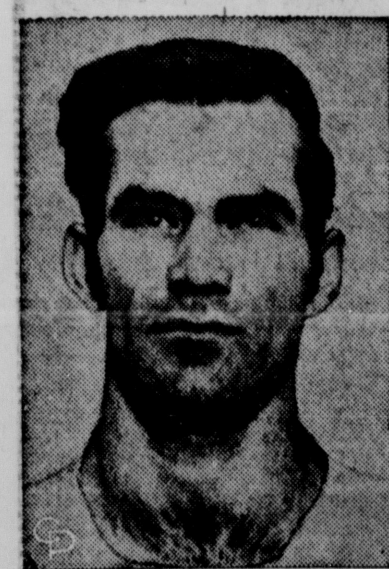

Today Allan and his parents have renewed hope. Developments in medical science and the generosity of scores of people willing to donate kidneys and blood have given Allan a chance to live.

Ernest Locsei, director of the Northern Ohio chapter of the Kidney Disease Foundation, issued an appeal for donors. By Monday night 63 persons had offered kidneys to the freckle-faced, 11-year-old youngster who was brought unconscious to Cleveland Clinic Feb. 1.

There were 60 offers to donate the blood needed during an operation.

The medical marvels that have given the Perts new hope are the artificial kidney and the success of kidney transplants.

The artificial kidney is a machine that cleanses poisonous waste products from the blood, taking over the function of the diseased human kidney. Young Pert responded readily when he was rushed here and put on the artificial kidney six weeks ago. But a successful kidney transplant is the boy's only hope, doctors say.

Dear Abby: Blondes Have More Fun?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do gentlemen really prefer blondes? Do blondes have more fun? Why do men act so silly over girls with hair that is bleached until it looks like straw? Wouldn't they rather see a natural redhead, or a girl with shining black hair, or chestnut-colored hair with golden highlights? Why do men rave over a girl just because she has blonde hair? I would like to know the answer to this, and so would a lot of other women.

NO DYE HARD
DEAR NO: Men like hair that is (a) clean, (b) well

groomed, (c) fragrant, (d) shiny, and (e) soft. If it is all of these things, men don't care whether it's black, brown or gray. I know a girl who has been both blonde and brunette, and she didn't have any more fun as a blonde.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and another couple went to a dinner show at a night club. Our income requires that we budget carefully. My husband and I ordered the least expensive dinners and one drink apiece. The other couple ordered the most expensive dinners and they each had four drinks. When the waiter brought the check, the other man just divided it in half and said, "Your share is $19.90." The floor show was on at the time, so my husband said nothing and paid up. On the way home he told the other man that he had some money coming, and explained why. The other man became indignant and said, "If you can't afford an evening out, you should stay home." Of course he was wrong, but how could this have been avoided?

FRIENDSHIP RUINED
DEAR RUINED: When you ordered, your husband should have asked the waiter to make up separate checks.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I was a witness in court. As I approached the witness stand this 65- or 70-year-old judge shouted at me, "Say, if you're gonna testify in this court, speak loud and with respect!" Then he fell back in his chair, put his feet up and lay back like he was dead. While I was talking, he suddenly jerked his feet off his desk, sat erect in his chair and shouted at the top of his voice, "SPEAK LOUDER!" Do you think I should send this judge a bed and a hearing aid?

WITNESS
DEAR WITNESS: "Judge not that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRUE FRIEND IN MARIETTA, GA."
Listen to the advice of your father. A 17-year-old divorcee is not fit company for you. Papa knows best.

New Senior
Citizen
Communities

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"If I only had the time, I'd . . ." is an oft-heard phrase with a thousand possible endings.

Oddly enough, though, when time is available, as it is after retirement for example, it can hang heavy, for once they leave the organized routine of business, many people suffer withdrawal symptoms.

They've withdrawn from the way of life they know best and the days seem dull and dreary. There's nothing to do. Perhaps there is no one in the same age bracket to supply companionship.

Loneliness and lack of activity are the twin bugaboos that tend to plague retirement days. Can anything be done about these problems?

Ross Cortese, a west coast land developer, thinks togetherness offers a happy solution to the problems of retired people.

Togetherness, as he sees it, is achieved via a community completely populated by older people and custom-created to cater to their living and recreational needs.

Thus far he's built four such Leisure World communities — three in California at Walnut Creek, Laguna Hills and Seal Beach, and one at Norbeck, Maryland.

They're cooperative ventures. Residents, all of whom are 52 or over, make a down payment which gives them ownership in a share of the community corporation's stock.

Monthly payments, which begin at $152, cover principal, interest, insurance, taxes, an intra-community transportation system, a 24-hour security guard, use of all community recreation facilities, an all-electric kitchen, 90 per cent of the cost of all calls to the community doctor's office, 80 per cent of all hospitalization at the community medical center, and complete maintenance of the grounds.

Residents seem to feel they've bought into a wonderful new way of life, for Leisure World offers far more than housing. Recreation is a major part of each development's concept.

At the newest community, Walnut Creek, which is not fully completed as yet, the 10,000 residents can enjoy the facilities of five clubhouses complete with game rooms, sewing areas, billiard rooms, ceramic and wood-working shops and Great Books club room.

The community will soon have its own 18-hole championship golf course, roque and championship tennis courts, a $75,000 swimming pool and bath house, stables and riding horses, landscaped hiking and riding trails.

In addition, three acres of land have been set aside for residents who wish to grow their own vegetables and flowers.

Akron Area Boy Drowns
During Swim in Pond

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The coroner has ruled the drowning of Robert D. Mills, 7, in Blue Pond was accidental. A skin-diver recovered the boy's body Tuesday.

Two companions told authorities the boy took off his clothes and leaped into the pond behind Goodyear Junior High School late Monday.

HOBBY CENTER — Ceramic-making in an especially equipped clubhouse is one of the many features of the new housing developments for senior citizens. Various facilities are available and offer residents opportunity to pursue the hobby they desire.

and chess rooms and rooms for musicales is also in the works.

In addition, the community has its own 21-acre shopping center, including a motel and restaurant, and a modern hospital and medical center.

Everything possible for comfort, convenience and recreation seems to have been included, but one of the most important things these communities provide for residents is companionship and, in some cases, romance. Seal Beach, for example, boasts twenty four marriages.

The idea has worked out so well thus far that plans are afoot for Leisure World developments in Illinois, Hawaii, the Greater New York area, Florida and in Europe.

Leisure World may not be the retirement solution for everyone but for many — some 49,000 to date — it seems to offer everything necessary for living happily ever after.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Blondes Have More Fun?

DEAR ABBY: Do gentlemen really prefer blondes? Do blondes have more fun? Why do men act so silly over girls with hair that is bleached until it looks like straw? Wouldn't they rather see a natural redhead, or a girl with shining black hair, or chestnut-colored hair with golden highlights? Why do men rave over a girl just because she has blonde hair? I would like to know the answer to this, and so would a lot of other women.

NO DYE HARD
DEAR NO: Men like hair that is (a) clean, (b) well

groomed, (c) fragrant, (d) shiny, and (e) soft. If it is all of these things, men don't care whether it's black, brown or gray. I know a girl who has been both blonde and brunette, and she didn't have any more fun as a blonde.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and another couple went to a dinner show at a night club. Our income requires that we budget carefully. My husband and I ordered the least expensive dinners and one drink apiece. The other couple ordered the most expensive dinners and they each had four drinks. When the waiter brought the check, the other man just divided it in half and said, "Your share is $19.90." The floor show was on at the time, so my husband said nothing and paid up. On the way home he told the other man that he had some money coming, and explained why. The other man became indignant and said, "If you can't afford an evening out, you should stay home." Of course he was wrong, but how could this have been avoided?

FRIENDSHIP RUINED
DEAR RUINED: When you ordered, your husband should have asked the waiter to make up separate checks.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I was a witness in court. As I approached the witness stand this 65- or 70-year-old judge shouted at me, "Say, if you're gonna testify in this court, speak loud and with respect!" Then he fell back in his chair, put his feet up and lay back like he was dead. While I was talking, he suddenly jerked his feet off his desk, sat erect in his chair and shouted at the top of his voice, "SPEAK LOUDER!" Do you think I should send this judge a bed and a hearing aid?

WITNESS
DEAR WITNESS: "Judge not that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRUE FRIEND IN MARIETTA, GA." Listen to the advice of your father. A 17-year-old divorcee is not fit company for you. Papa knows best.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. John Downs, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. John Heffner, Mrs. Melvin Dresbach and Miss Joyce Miller.

New Senior Citizen Communities

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
"If I only had the time, I'd . . ." is an oft-heard phrase with a thousand possible endings.

Oddly enough, though, when time is available, as it is after retirement for example, it can hang heavy, for once they leave the organized routine of business, many people suffer withdrawal symptoms.

They've withdrawn from the way of life they know best and the days seem dull and dreary. There's nothing to do. Perhaps there is no one in the same age bracket to supply companionship.

Loneliness and lack of activity are the twin bugaboos that tend to plague retirement days. Can anything be done about these problems?

Ross Cortese, a west coast land developer, thinks together offers a happy solution to the problems of retired people.

Together, as he sees it, is achieved via a community completely populated by older people and custom-created to cater to their living and recreational needs.

Thus far he's built four such Leisure World communities — three in California at Walnut Creek, Laguna Hills and Seal Beach, and one at Norbeck, Maryland.

They're cooperative ventures. Residents, all of whom are 52 or over, make a down payment which gives them ownership in a share of the community corporation's stock.

Monthly payments, which begin at $152, cover principal, interest, insurance, taxes, an intra-community transportation system, a 24-hour security guard, use of all community recreation facilities, an all-electric kitchen, 80 per cent of the cost of all calls to the community doctor's office, 80 per cent of all hospitalization at the community medical center, and complete maintenance of the grounds.

Residents seem to feel they've bought into a wonderful new way of life, for Leisure World offers far more than housing. Recreation is a major part of each development's concept.

Information Of Interest To Veterans

(Veterans and their dependents who may have any questions concerning any benefits from the Veterans Administration should bring their questions to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. His office is located in the basement of the County Court House).

Q—When the VA foreclosed on a GI home due to delinquent payments and then puts the reclaimed property up for sale, does the new purchaser also have to be a veteran?

A—No. Repossessed homes may be sold to anyone. In fact, if a veteran sells a home he has brought with a GI loan, he may sell it to a non-veteran.

Q—I am a veteran's widow, and I lost my VA pension when I remarried. My second husband was also a veteran, and he recently passed away. Can I return to the pension rolls? And if so, will I be considered a widow of the first veteran, or the second veteran?

A—If you are within the income limitations, you definitely can return to the pension rolls, but not as a widow of the first veteran. You can be eligible only as a widow of the second veteran.

Q—My husband was recently discharged from a VA hospital because of what the hospital said was "MHB". What does this mean?

A—The letters stand for "maximum hospital benefit". This means that hospital officials believe that the patient's condition has improved to the point that additional time in the hospital would bring about no further improvement.

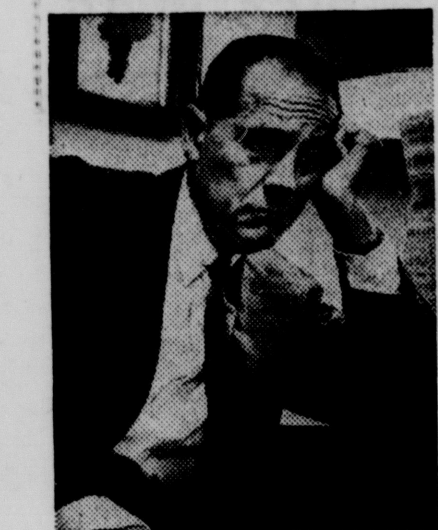

Q—I am a veteran of World War I, and am drawing total non-service connected pension. If I am admitted to a VA hospital, will I continue to draw this pension benefit?

A—Veterans with dependents will not have their pensions reduced while in a VA Hospital. Veterans without dependents who receive their pension under the new law, (PL 21) will have it adjusted to $30 per month at the end of the second full calendar month of hospitalization. At their discharge from the hospital the full pension will be resumed. The amount withheld will not be given to you after discharge from the hospital. Veterans without dependents, who draw their pension under the old law, will have it reduced at the end of six months to 50 per cent or $30 whichever is the greater amount. The full amount will be resumed upon discharge from the hospital. Payments of amounts withheld under the old pension law may be made on termination of hospitalization.

Q—When my Nation Service Life Insurance Endowment policy reaches the end of the premium payment period, may I receive monthly payments for the rest of my life?

A—No you may not. However, you may choose a lump sum or payments over a period of three months to 240 months in equal installments.

Q—My husband was recently discharged from a VA hospital because of what the hospital said was "MHB". What does this mean?

A—The letters stand for "maximum hospital benefit." This means that hospital officials believe that the patient's condition has improved to the point that additional time in the hospital would bring about no further improvement.

Q—I am a veteran of World War I, and am drawing total non-service connected pension. If I am admitted to a VA hospital, will I continue to draw this pension benefit?

A—Veterans with dependents will not have their pensions reduced while in a VA Hospital. Veterans without dependents who receive their pension under the new law, (PL 21) will have it adjusted to $30 per month at the end of the second full calendar month of hospitalization. At their discharge from the hospital the full pension will be resumed. The amount withheld will not be given to you after discharge from the hospital. Veterans without dependents, who draw their pension under the old law, will have it reduced at the end of six months to 50 per cent or $30 whichever is the greater amount. The full amount will be resumed upon discharge from the hospital.

Payments of amounts withheld under the old pension law may be made on termination of hospitalization.

Q—When my Nation Service Life Insurance Endowment policy reaches the end of the premium payment period, may I receive monthly payments for the rest of my life?

A—No you may not. However, you may choose a lump sum or payments over a period of three months to 240 months in equal installments.

The quaint architecture of the Roemer never fails to thrill visitors to Frankfurt.

City of Frankfurt In Fine Comeback

By SANDO BOLOGNA
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

Twenty years ago Frankfurt was a devastated city with nearly all its important buildings destroyed or severely damaged by sustained Allied air raids.

The former imperial capital of Charlemagne and of the Holy Roman emperors was at the terrifying abyss of its eventful history.

From the wartime ashes, the city has risen with a remarkable bounce-back that is characteristic of the Frankfurters' pride for their centuries-old heritage.

Now Frankfurt is a modern city with modernistic buildings, television-controlled traffic, and dynamic business and commercial headquarters pegged to the European Common Market.

Many non-Germans say that Frankfurt reminds them of a progressive American city. American servicemen have been stationed in the thousands in the area since World War II.

Americans planning to visit Germany are often advised by travel counselors to exclude this city of some 750,000 from their itineraries. This recommendation is made on the premise that it's "just a big commercial city."

However, there is much to be seen in Frankfurt. Many people coming to the city for sight-seeing, rather than for commercial reasons, are impressed with the structures that have been reconstructed in the regal, religious and romantic heritage that dates back to Roman era.

The Goethe House is a prime example. On March 22, 1944, the four-story, 22-room birthplace of Johann Wolfgang Goethe was destroyed by bombings. Today the building looks exactly as it did two decades ago, reconstructed in detail.

The furniture that had been stored before the war is in the same rooms where the great Goethe wrote his poetry and plays. The materials of the building, which were salvaged, are back in their former places. The floors were marked and polished to resemble those floors on which Goethe walked.

Dedicated May 10, 1951, the Goethe Haus has the furnishings of two centuries ago: the utensils in the kitchen, the musical instruments in the Music Room, and the poet's mementoes throughout the building. A huge astronomical clock whose 200-year-old calendar expired in 1949 still ticks away the time accurately. Goethe was born in the house Aug. 28, 1749.

The Goethe house is connected by a colonnade to the Goethe Museum, consisting of 14 rooms of paintings, pictures and other memorabilia of the Goethe family and contemporaries.

The highlight of a tour of Frankfurt is the Roemer in a square that has a medieval style and is called Roemerberg, or Rome's Hill. The Roemer consists of eight buildings, former residences of patricians, where the City Hall has been since 1405.

The principal historic place in the Roemer is the Kaisersaal, scene of the coronation banquets of the German emperors who were elected and crowned in the original Coronation Hall.

Large paintings of the 52 Frankfurt and Holy Roman emperors who ruled from 768 to 1806 hang on the walls of the Imperial Coronation Hall, which was rededicated June 5, 1955.

Visitors are not permitted to enter the hall unless they put on large felt slippers over their shoes. This precaution is taken so that the soft wood parquet floor will not be scratched. There are 180 pairs of slippers outside the hall.

Several churches linked to the history of the Holy Roman emperors are in the Roemer area, including the St. Bartholomew's Church, founded in 850.

by Ludwig the German.

For centuries Frankfurt has been renowned among royalty and ordinary travelers as the city of excellent eating and exquisite wines from area vineyards. However, to the world at large, and particularly to the U.S.A., Frankfurt is known as the birthplace of the frankfurter, or hot dog.

City Solons Again Wrestle With Carry-Out Application

City Council last night again found itself in the middle of a controversy involving an application for issuance of a liquor license in the vicinity of Walnut St. School.

Filing the application for a store at the northwest corner of Logan and Washington Sts. earlier this year was Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Stumbo. After receiving written objections from the local Board of Education and residents of the area, Council adopted a resolution opposing issuance of the carry-out permit on Feb. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Stumbo, present at last night's regular session, asked Council to reconsider its opposing resolution. They said there has been considerable misunderstanding in regard to the application.

The store owners claimed their application was filed "for use at such a time when Walnut St. School would no longer be used for educational purposes." They said the filing was made with the viewpoint that the proposed school bond issue would be passed here in May, meaning that the Walnut St. School would be abandoned.

COUNCIL, in adopting last month's opposition resolution, was acting under a new procedure established by the State Department of Liquor Control on granting permits. The new method calls for city government to approve or reject applications. The municipality's stand then supposedly has a bearing on whether or not the permit will be granted by the State Board of Control.

The Stumbos explained they were not informed of the meeting date when Council discussed their application and approved the negative resolution. They also contested the wording of the measure which listed the general area of their store as "strictly residential."

Although the solons voiced the opinion that perhaps the resolution was approved too early they gave no indication they would reverse their stand or that they might appear in Stumbo's behalf when the application goes before the State Control Board for a final hearing on Mar. 30.

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins, noting that if Council now holds a sympathetic attitude toward Stumbo's appeal said members could appear in his behalf at the hearing, submit a letter to this effect or enact another resolution.

$10,000 COCKTAIL—Toasting the newest in electronic achievement, Linda Bento "sips" a $10,000 "cocktail" at Hughes Aircraft in Newport Beach, Calif. The "cocktail" actually is thousands of Microglass diodes, described as the first step in a new generation of electronic component technology. The tiny diode is for use in high-speed computers, in missiles and in space-age electronic systems. It will be introduced at the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers in New York on March 23.

City Solons Again Wrestle With Carry-Out Application

City Council last night again found itself in the middle of a controversy involving an application for issuance of a liquor license in the vicinity of Walnut St. School.

Filing the application for a store at the northwest corner of Logan and Washington Sts. earlier this year was Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Stumbo. After receiving written objections from the local Board of Education and residents of the area, Council adopted a resolution opposing issuance of the carry-out permit on Feb. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Stumbo, present at last night's regular session, asked Council to reconsider its opposing resolution. They said there has been considerable misunderstanding in regard to the application.

The store owners claimed their application was filed "for use at such a time when Walnut St. School would no longer be used for educational purposes." They said the filing was made with the viewpoint that the proposed school bond issue would be passed here in May, meaning that the Walnut St. School would be abandoned.

COUNCIL, in adopting last month's opposition resolution, was acting under a new procedure established by the State Department of Liquor Control on granting permits. The new method calls for city government to approve or reject applications. The municipality's stand then supposedly has a bearing on whether or not the permit will be granted by the State Board of Control.

The Stumbos explained they were not informed of the meeting date when Council discussed their application and approved the negative resolution. They also contested the wording of the measure which listed the general area of their store as "strictly residential."

Although the solons voiced the opinion that perhaps the resolution was a proved too early they gave no indication they would reverse their stand or that they might appear in Stumbo's behalf when the application goes before the State Control Board for a final hearing on Mar. 30.

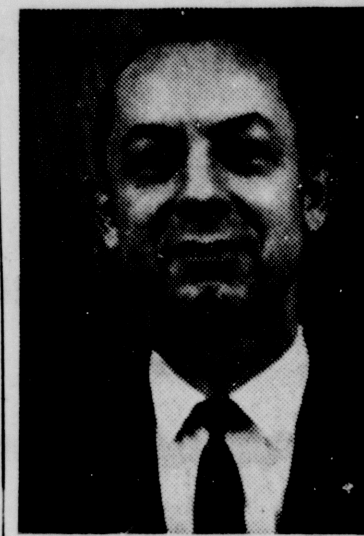

Solicitor Kenneth Robbins, noting that if Council now holds a sympathetic attitude toward Stumbo's appeal said members could appear in his behalf at the hearing, submit a letter to this effect or enact another resolution.

Committee Rates B-I-E Day As 'Outstanding Success'

The Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce committee that directed this community's first Business - Industry - Education Day last Friday has tagged the project "an outstanding success."

This is the consensus of opinion voiced when members of the panel met yesterday at Tink's Tavern for an evaluation of the special event. They drew their conclusions after talking with both teachers and host firm representatives who participated.

The committee discussed the entire sequence of events that took place Friday. Members agreed the day was a worthwhile undertaking and that many things were learned in regard to conducting future BIE Days and similar events.

L. D. Varble, panel chairman, commended the teachers' receptive attitude and spirit. He also praised members of his committee, all host firms and various agencies that lent valuable assistance.

LETTERS of recognition were authorized for the two guest speakers who participated in the afternoon assembly at the Fairgrounds. These citations will go to Ralph Negri, Columbus branch manager for the National Cash Register Co., and Robert Wood, Pickaway County treasurer.

Next project for the Chamber committee will be Education-Business Day, scheduled as the second step in a three-year cycle program. This phase will allow area business, industry and service personnel to visit city and county schools.

The E-B Day tentatively will be conducted during the next school year. A definite date has not been established, although members of the committee discussed the program at length yesterday.

The third phase of the overall program calls for city and county students, probably juniors and seniors, to visit business, industry and service firms, just as the teachers did Friday. This event will be scheduled after E-B Day has been completed.

Evaluation questionnaires on last Friday's program have been submitted to participating teachers who will present their views. The committee will call another meeting to study the answers when all forms have been returned.

Police Chief To Quit, Give Pay to Aides

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—The chief of police in nearby Woodville has resigned so the community's other two policemen can keep their jobs.

Police Chief Fred Steyer submitted his resignation giving as his reason a current "financial crisis" in the village of 1,700. In his letter, Steyer, who was appointed chief last September, said his resignation would cut expenditures by one salary and assure more security for the other two officers.

The 54-year-old chief said he knew the police force would have to be reduced because village funds are low and that since he had other income his conscience dictated that he resign. Steyer draws a pension from the Parma Police Department where he served 20 years before moving here. The chief of police salary here is $5,400 a year.

Lewis Space Lab Grants Contracts

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday more than $2.9 million in major contracts were awarded in February by its Lewis Research Center here in support of space research and development programs.

Lewis also announced a new program allowing college instructors and professors to work on space research projects at the center this summer.

A total of $1,803,684 in contracts was awarded to firms in six California cities, compared with $679,686 in contracts to firms in five Ohio cities, according to Lewis.

Ohio Industry-Seekers Take Aim on Canada

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toronto, Ont., Canada is the current target for Gov. James A. Rhodes' industry-seeking expedition. Members of the group, including both government and business representatives, were to talk to Toronto industrialists today and Thursday.

HAY, THERE—Jockeys Susan Hakansson (left) and Ingrid Brameyer sit astride fiberglass horses scheduled to make a two-year run atop a huge carousel in the Festival of Gas pavilion at the New York World's Fair. Six of these 12-foot-long, 10-foot-high steeds will constitute a demonstration of the use of gas in creation of industrial materials, such as fiberglass, through petrochemistry.

Derby

There will be a special Lenten Service Mar. 26 of Holy Week at the Derby Church. Everyone is invited.

PROBLEM CHILDREN

Q. I have a 5-year-old who can really work up a storm. Why do children have temper tantrums?

A. Because they haven't learned self-control. Anger is a natural emotion. There are times when everyone would like to beat the floor and chew up the rug. Many doctors say that children fly off the handle for two reasons. They have found that tantrums put them in the center of the stage (and like ham actors they want all the attention). Or they may really believe that they have been denied something they should have. The child doesn't particularly care whether you agree with him or not.

AGE AND HEIGHT

Q. People seem to get shorter as they age. Why?

A. Between each bone in the spine there are moist, spongy discs (intervertebral discs) that act as shock absorbers. In later life these discs tend to lose water and shrink. Since there are 23 such discs in the vertebral column, very slight shrinkage of each disc would cause loss of an inch or more in height. There is also a tendency for the shoulders to bend forward so that the elderly person becomes roundshouldered. This tends to accentuate the actual loss in height.

Committee Rates B-I-E Day As 'Outstanding Success'

The Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce committee that directed this community's first Business - Industry - Education Day last Friday has tagged the project "an outstanding success."

This is the consensus of opinion voiced when members of the panel met yesterday at Tink's Tavern for an evaluation of the special event. They drew their conclusions after talking with both teachers and host firm representatives who participated.

The committee discussed the entire sequence of events that took place Friday. Members agreed the day was a worthwhile undertaking and that many things were learned in regard to conducting future BIE Days and similar events.

L. D. Varble, panel chairman, commended the teachers' receptive attitude and spirit. He also praised members of his committee, all host firms and various agencies that lent valuable assistance.

LETTERS of recognition were authorized for the two guest speakers who participated in the afternoon assembly at the Fairgrounds. These citations will go to Ralph Negri, Columbus branch manager for the National Cash Register Co., and Robert Wood, Pickaway County treasurer.

Next project for the Chamber committee will be Education-Business Day, scheduled as the second step in a three-year cycle program. This phase will allow area business, industry and service personnel to visit city and county schools.

The E-B Day tentatively will be conducted during the next school year. A definite date has not been established, although members of the committee discussed the program at length yesterday.

The third phase of the overall program calls for city and county students, probably juniors and seniors, to visit business, industry and service firms, just as the teachers did Friday. This event will be scheduled after E-B Day has been completed.

Evaluation questionnaires on last Friday's program have been submitted to participating teachers who will present their views. The committee will call another meeting to study the answers when all forms have been returned.

Police Chief To Quit, Give Pay to Aides

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—The chief of police in nearby Woodville has resigned so the community's other two policemen can keep their jobs.

Police Chief Fred Steyer submitted his resignation giving as his reason a current "financial crisis" in the village of 1,700. In his letter, Steyer, who was appointed chief last September, said his resignation would cut expenditures by one salary and assure more security for the other two officers.

The 54-year-old chief said he knew the police force would have to be reduced because village funds are low and that since he had other income his conscience dictated that he resign. Steyer draws a pension from the Parma Police Department where he served 20 years before moving here. The chief of police salary here is $5,400 a year.

Lewis Space Lab Grants Contracts

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday more than $2.9 million in major contracts were awarded in February by its Lewis Research Center here in support of space research and development programs.

Lewis also announced a new program allowing college instructors and professors to work on space research projects at the center this summer.

A total of $1,803,684 in contracts was awarded to firms in six California cities, compared with $679,686 in contracts to firms in five Ohio cities, according to Lewis.

Ohio Industry-Seekers Take Aim on Canada

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toronto, Ont., Canada is the current target for Gov. James A. Rhodes' industry-seeking expedition. Members of the group, including both government and business representatives, were to talk to Toronto industrialists today and Thursday.

HAY, THERE—Jockeys Susan Hakansson (left) and Ingrid Brameyer sit astride fiberglass horses scheduled to make a two-year run atop a huge carousel in the Festival of Gas pavilion at the New York World's Fair. Six of these 12-foot-long, 10-foot-high steeds will constitute a demonstration of the use of gas in creation of industrial materials, such as fiberglass, through petrochemistry.

There will be a special Lenten Service Mar. 26 of Holy Week at the Derby Church. Everyone is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Coontz of Columbus are having open house to observe their 50th wedding anniversary on Mar. 22 from 2 to 5 p. m. Mrs. Coontz is the former Osa Yoakum.

Danny Stires, on leave from school in Kentucky, spent the past weekend with his parents and family Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stires.

Sympathy is extended to relatives of Mr. John Stage who died at his home in Reynoldsburg last Friday. Mr. Stage, 56, was a resident of Derby for many years.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Virgie Higgins were Mr. and Mrs. William Deyo of Harrisburg and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell and Debbie.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, March 18, 1964. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1937, the consolidated school in New London, Tex., was destroyed by an explosion of natural gas. The blast occurred 10 minutes before dismissal and killed 455 pupils and teachers.

On this date: In 1766, England repealed the Stamp Act.

In 1837, the 22nd president of the United States, Stephen Grover Cleveland, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1911, former President Theodore Roosevelt formally opened Roosevelt Dam in Arizona.

In 1945, the U.S. 3rd and 7th armies drove deeper into the Saar Basin in a new power thrust during World War II.

In 1953, the first shift of a major league baseball franchise in half a century took place when Lou Perini transferred his National League club to Milwaukee from Boston.

Ten years ago — Israel formally blamed the Jordanian government for the massacre of 11 travelers in the ambush of a bus in the Negev Desert.

Five years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed legislation admitting the territory of Hawaii to the Union as the 50th state.

One year ago — President John F. Kennedy was given a tremendous welcome when he arrived in San Jose, Costa Rica, for two days of conferences with the presidents of six Central American states.

Scranton OKs Draft as Veep

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton says he would accept the Republican nomination for vice president—but only if a "sincere and honest draft" developed.

"I had already expressed a similar attitude in regard to the GOP presidential nomination.

He clarified his position on the vice presidency in a television interview on a Harrisburg, Pa., station.

Scranton said: "My feeling about this is identical to the presidency. I do not want to run for national office, and I am not interested in doing so. I have said I would accept an honest and sincere draft and that I would do."

U.S. Doubts DeGaulle Aims To Stir Unrest

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials so far discount the possibility that President Charles de Gaulle's visit to Mexico will make serious trouble for the United States in Latin America.

But under the official surface calm there is some apprehension that De Gaulle may get caught up in or perhaps inadvertently stimulate new waves of anti-Americanism.

The French leaders and President Johnson are, in a sense, now embarked on rival campaigns for prestige and effective influence in South American affairs.

In a speech Monday to the Organization of American States Johnson presented his ideas for putting new life into the multi-billion-dollar Alliance for Progress.

At the same time the President acted to strengthen the authority of his hand-picked director of all U.S.-Latin-American activities, Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Mann. And an extraordinary conference was opened between top Washington officials, including the President, and U.S. ambassadors and aid directors in Latin-American countries.

Coincident with these moves by Johnson, De Gaulle arrived in Mexico City to be greeted by an enthusiastic crowd of 300,000. The French leader joined with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in projecting a new alliance between Mexico and France—an alliance which they agreed is not meant to harm anyone.

The contrast between the problems with which Johnson and De Gaulle were dealing in their almost simultaneous speeches was sharp and dramatic.

The Alliance for Progress, which is the heart of U.S. relations and hopes for the future in Latin America, has now been running for more than two years. It has cost the United States about a billion dollars a year. Along the way it has become loaded with problems and criticisms, some errors and failures.

In the background of Johnson's speech also stood a history of disputes and difficulties as well as profitable trade and long periods of friendly relationships with many Latin-American countries.

There are current disagreements over Cuba and deep concern over the U.S.-Panamanian quarrel centering around the Panama Canal. There are tensions in U.S. relations with Brazil and arguments with countries like Argentina and Peru over issues of nationalization involving American oil contracts.

De Gaulle's dramatic entry on the Latin-American scene gains strength from the fact that it is free of such handicaps.

As between the two great nuclear powers, the United States and the Soviet Union, he seems to be intent on offering as many other nations as possible the prospect of a "third world" brought into being by French leadership, marked by increasing trade ties with France and responsive to the dissatisfactions of people who do not like either the Soviet or the American way.

Washington authorities are sensitively alert to widespread anti-U.S. sentiments in Latin-American countries which in their view create an opening for De Gaulle's personal diplomacy and his vision of the French offer of a third way of international life.

Officially the U.S. government's position is that De Gaulle's visit to Mexico and later trips which he plans to other American countries hold a welcome hope of increasing ties between Latin America and U.S. allies in Europe. The United States for several years has been urging France, West Germany, Britain and Italy to expand their roles—economic, political and cultural—in Central and South America and the Caribbean.

Privately officials admit that the special circumstances in which De Gaulle is making his first trip to Mexico were not foreseen in the original development of this U.S. policy.

In recent years the French leader has crossed U.S. policy aims at so many points that a constant uneasiness about what he will do next has become more or less permanent in Washington.

His recognition of Communist China in January is but the latest of a series of incidents going back to his determination to give France an independent nuclear force and various denials of cooperation with the United States and other allied countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and in the United Nations.

What disturbed U.S. leaders even more was De Gaulle's quick followup of recognition of Red China with advocacy of a policy of neutralization for Southeast Asia. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said such talk tended to undermine morale in South Viet Nam where the United States has more than 15,000 men engaged with the Vietnamese in a war against Communist guerrillas backed by Red China.

Delphos Woman Pleads Innocent

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Dorothy Jean Bair of Route 2, Delphos, was charged with first-degree murder Tuesday at a municipal court arraignment in the slaying of her husband.

Authorities said the victim, Norman Bair, 38, of Lima, was shot five times Monday as he worked as a price-checker in a supermarket.

Police said Dorothy Jean, from whom the victim had been estranged about two years, was held by other employees until police arrived.

She pleaded innocent to the charge.

Ohio Continues to Normal After Devastating Floods

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Ohio River continues to inch slowly back into its banks but a second evacuation has been ordered for some flood victims in Hamilton County.

The County Board of Health said Tuesday that some families who were chased by flood water from camp structures at Newtown will have to move out again because regulations permit the camp only to be occupied in the summer time.

About 40 families were living in the area when the floods came, and since the Ohio River has been receding some have moved back in. The board posted "closed" stickers on the camp Tuesday and notified those who had moved back in to evacuate again.

George C. Bailey, the board's director of environmental health, said the Red Cross had been requested not to aid those families who are moving back in until May 16, when the camp is opened officially. The Board of Health permits the camp to be opened from May 16 to Sept. 16.

Newtown police also said they still were baffled by the disappearance of ex-Mayor John R. Anderson, who has not been seen since March 9 when the flood was at its height.

Police said they have no official missing report on Anderson but "think he drowned" in the muddy flood waters. A car being driven by Anderson was found Tuesday submerged in flood waters, but there was no trace of him.

The river is expected to be around the 59-foot mark at Cincinnati today, seven feet above flood level.

At New Richmond, two streets in the village are now free of water. Every street had been inundated.

Rep. William H. Harsha Jr., R-Ohio, announced he will view the flood damage in New Richmond and Clermont County on Friday.

More and more schools in communities along the river are opening, but Higginsport officials said their schools will not open until next Monday so they can make certain drinking water is safe.

More residents are getting back into their homes and, as some said, finding themselves knee-deep in mud from the worst flood in nearly 20 years. About 110,000 persons in five states were affected.

The Red Cross still is feeding and sheltering hundreds of homeless.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has declared the Red Cross "the official disaster relief agency" for Ohioans and urged it be supported in cleaning up.

Damage from the flood has been estimated between $50 million and $100 million. It has cost the city of Cincinnati $150,000 in public funds so far, an official said.

North America's first social club, the "order of the Good Time," was founded in Nova Scotia by explorer Samuel de Champlain shortly after the peninsula was settled in 1605. The club's purpose was to ease the boredom of life in the wilderness.

LILY DAY PLANNED — Circleville High School's SOS Club is making final plans for annual 'Lily Day' solicitations in the downtown area Saturday. The program is sponsored by the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Proceeds will be added to the society's treasury. Planning the solicitation are, left to right: Diane Wise, chairman; Mrs. Lois Brobst, SOS adviser; and Pat Lattimer, SOS president.

TV Musical Show To Top '63 Efforts

According to band directors William Pangburn and Mrs. Linda Lowry, the 1964 Teays Valley Elementary School's musical stage show "will top the '63 version in every respect."

"Not only will the stagings be more elaborate and visually pleasing due to the fine facilities of the High School auditorium, but we also have a great number of the same musicians that were with us last year, only now they have one more year of musical training under their hats," stated Pangburn.

Instead of presenting the show one night at each of the three elementary schools, there will be only one performance this year, at the Teays Valley High School. It will be presented April 11 at 8 p. m.

According to Pangburn, this will probably be the last year for such lavishly staged presentations unless the attendance is much better than last year. The over-all 1963 attendance was not good, he said. Scheduling this year's show one month earlier is hoped to help attendance.

An advance ticket sale to be conducted this year by all interested bandsmen from March 25 to April 8 will mean quite a savings to patrons.

An outline of the 1964 show "Sounds of Spring" contains five scenes as follows: Symphony of Color; "Lincoln", Mr. President; Story Time in Music Land; Fiesta Espanol; Salute to Broadway. Total structure of the show is planned to appeal to all ages.

LILY DAY PLANNED — Circleville High School's SOS Club is making final plans for annual 'Lily Day' solicitations in the downtown area Saturday. The program is sponsored by the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Proceeds will be added to the society's treasury. Planning the solicitation are, left to right: Diane Wise, chairman; Mrs. Lois Brobst, SOS adviser; and Pat Latimer, SOS president.

TV Musical Show To Top '63 Efforts

According to band directors William Pangburn and Mrs. Linda Lowry, the 1964 Teays Valley Elementary School's musical stage show "will top the '63 version in every respect." "Not only will the stagings be more elaborate and visually pleasing due to the fine facilities of the High School auditorium, but we also have a great number of the same musicians that were with us last year, only now they have one more year of musical training under their hats," stated Pangburn.

Instead of presenting the show one night at each of the three elementary schools, there will be only one performance this year, at the Teays Valley High School. It will be presented April 11 at 8 p. m.

According to Pangburn, this will probably be the last year for such lavishly staged presentations unless the attendance is much better than last year. The over-all 1963 attendance was not good, he said. Scheduling this year's show one month earlier is hoped to help attendance.

An advance ticket sale to be conducted this year by all interested bandmen from March 25 to April 8 will mean quite a savings to patrons.

An outline of the 1964 show "Sounds of Spring" contains five scenes as follows: Symphony of Color; "Lincoln", Mr. President; Story Time in Music Land; Fiesta Espanol; Salute to Broadway. Total structure of the show is planned to appeal to all ages.

Ohio Continues to Normal After Devastating Floods

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Ohio River continues to inch slowly back into its banks but a second evacuation has been ordered for some flood victims in Hamilton County.

The County Board of Health said Tuesday that some families who were chased by flood water from camp structures at Newtown will have to move out again because regulations permit the camp only to be occupied in the summer time.

About 40 families were living in the area when the floods came, and since the Ohio River has been receding some have moved back in. The board posted "closed" stickers on the camp Tuesday and notified those who had moved back in to evacuate again.

George C. Bailey, the board's director of environmental health, said the Red Cross had been requested not to aid those families who are moving back in until May 16, when the camp is opened officially. The Board of Health permits the camp to be opened from May 16 to Sept. 16.

Newtown police also said they still were baffled by the disappearance of ex-Mayor John R. Anderson, who has not been seen since March 9 when the flood was at its height.

Police said they have no official missing report on Anderson but "think he drowned" in the muddy flood waters. A car being driven by Anderson was found Tuesday submerged in flood waters, but there was no trace of him.

The river is expected to be around the 59-foot mark at Cincinnati today, seven feet above flood level.

At New Richmond, two streets in the village are now free of water. Every street had been inundated.

Rep. William H. Harsha Jr., R-Ohio, announced he will view

the flood damage in New Richmond and Clermont County on Friday.

More and more schools in communities along the river are opening, but Higginsport officials said their schools will not open until next Monday so they can make certain drinking water is safe.

More residents are getting back into their homes and, as some said, finding themselves knee-deep in mud from the worst flood in nearly 20 years. About 110,000 persons in five states were affected.

The Red Cross still is feeding and sheltering hundreds of homeless.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has declared the Red Cross "the official disaster relief agency" for Ohioans and urged it be supported in cleaning up.

Damage from the flood has been estimated between $50 million and $100 million. It has cost the city of Cincinnati $150,000 in public funds so far, an official said.

North America's first social club, the "order of the Good Time," was founded in Nova Scotia by explorer Samuel de Champlain shortly after the peninsula was settled in 1605. The club's purpose was to ease the boredom of life in the wilderness.

Dunes in Indiana Could Be Saved

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Portions of Indiana Dunes that have not yet been destroyed along the southern shore of Lake Michigan may still be saved from the bulldozer and the sand barge of Congress will act in time on pending legislation that would establish the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

The proposed Dunes National Lakeshore Park would encompass about 11,732 acres. This could include the 2,181-acre Indiana Dunes State Park, if Indiana wishes to co-operate in consolidating the whole lakeshore under one management.

The scenic beauty, scientific value, and recreational potential of the Indiana dunes have been recognized for many decades. Stephen Mather, first director of the National Park Service, recommended as far back as 1916 that the Indiana Dunes, then comprising a 25-mile strip of lakeshore between East Chicago and Michigan City, be made part of the National Park System.

The Indiana Dunes then were uninhabited. Many kinds of trees covered large portions. The region included cattail marshes, clean, sandy beaches, and scenic dunes rising to 200 feet above Lake Michigan.

World War I thwarted legislative action at that time to protect the dunes. Shortly after the war, industrial development started spreading along the lakeshore, exploiting part of the dunes. About the only effective action since then to protect the dunes has been the formation of the Indiana Dunes State Park. Six years of battling in Congress to save the dunes have produced a parade of bills, committee hearings, official visits to the dunes, and floods of written and spoken words—but no effective action. Steel companies, backers of a new harbor for Indiana, and sand merchants filling in the lake for expanding a university campus at Evanston have continued to exploit the dunes.

When President Kennedy made his conservation speech to Congress on March 1, 1962, he included "a National Lakeshore Area in northern Indiana" among the nation's outdoor recreation resources.

A senate committee has scheduled hearings in March on a bill (S. 2249) which would provide for the establishment of the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

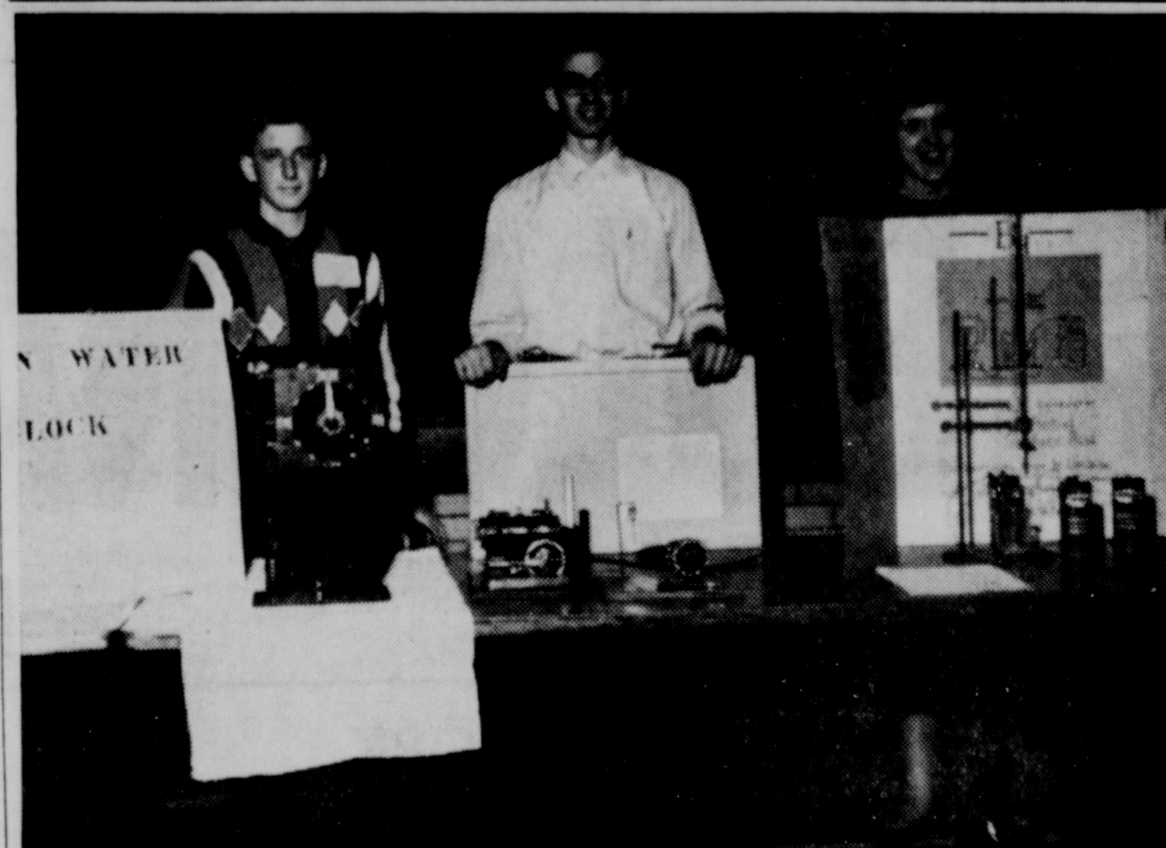

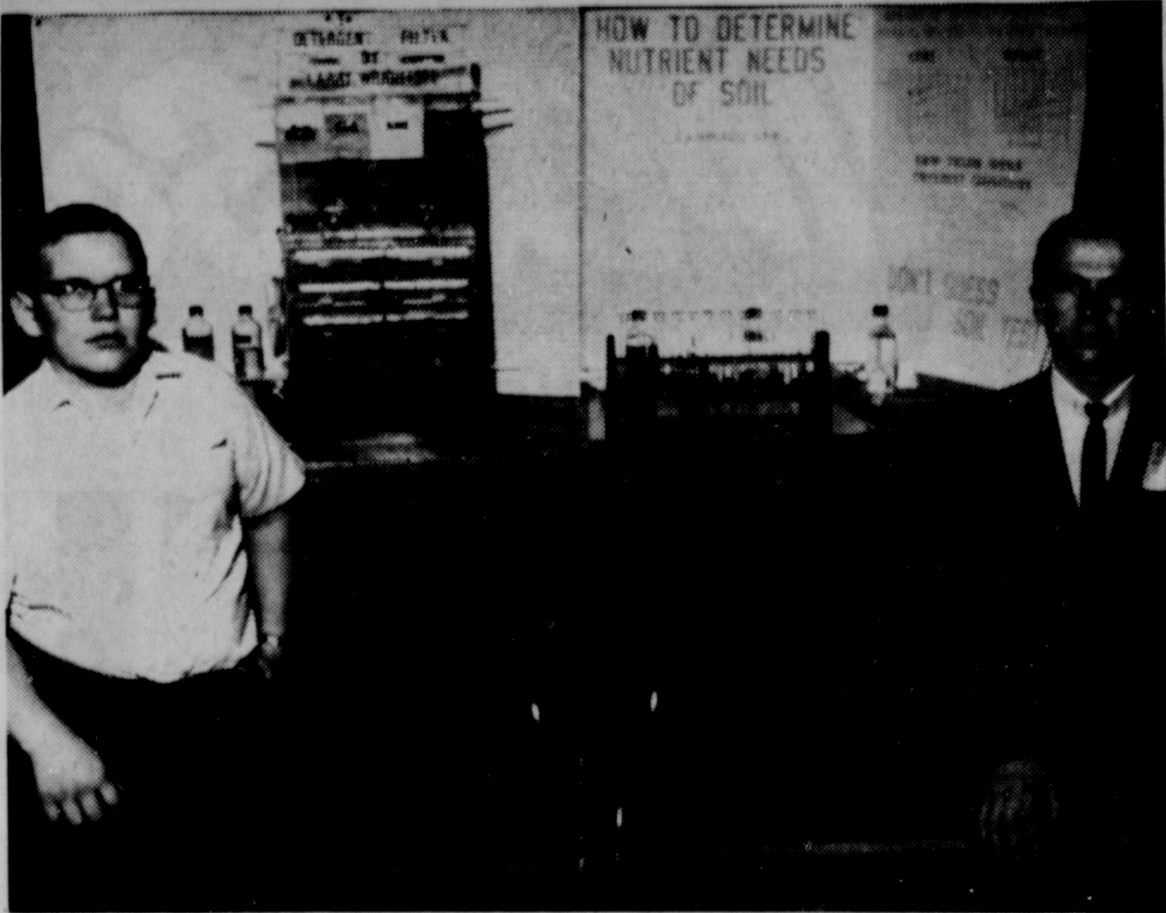

The Department of the Interior has described the region to be included as follows:

"The area we envision for establishment as the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore contains a unique combination of lakefront, dunes and hinterland that is ideally suited to fulfillment of the recreational and open space needs of the people of this region; moreover, its scenic and scientific attractions would continue to draw people from all parts of our country... "The area's recreational value is readily apparent. Nowhere on the Great Lakes is the need for additional shoreline recreation areas greater than here and only in a very few places on the Great Lakes are factors more favorably aligned for combined recreational use of the water, the waterfront and the hinterlands."

Nearly seven million people live within a 50-mile radius of the Indiana Dunes. When you push this radius out another 50 miles, the total population encompassed is nearly 10 million. And population crystallographers predict that by 1980 the people within this 100-mile radius will have increased to nearly 12 million.

Ice-age upheavals, receding water levels, and winds that shift the everchanging sands have built the Indiana Dunes. Varied flora in the dunes have long attracted scientists from over the world. Moderate water temperatures in the southern end of Lake Michigan draw millions of bathers to the Dunes lakeshore.

Congress faces the rare opportunity to save Indiana's remaining dunes—their clean beaches, wooded dunes, sheltered marshes and hinterland solitude. Besides, millions of people who wish to preserve the rich heritage of the dunes also vote.

DARBY SCIENCE FAIR — Students in general science, biology and chemistry completed and displayed projects last week in the Darby High School Science Fair. In the upper picture are Larry Wrightsel (left) winner in the general science division, and Jim Garrett, winner in the biology division. Wrightsel's project was a detergent filter while Garrett's display showed how to determine nutrient needs of soil. In the lower photo are, left to right: Roy Roush and Ken Drummond, both honorable mention in the chemistry projects, and Linda Vance, honorable mention in general science. The title of Drummond's display was Pinion Brake, while Roush displayed a Roman Water Clock. Miss Vance illustrated neutralization by conductivity. Carolyn Fry, not pictured, won first place in chemistry. Other honorable mention awards went to Bucky Rogers in general science and Mike Kahler and Mike Lewis in biology. The fair was supervised by Ned Reichelderfer, biology and general science teacher, and Earl Reid, chemistry instructor.

Adult CD Program May Be Cancelled

Circleville school officials announced today that the "Education for Survival" program may not be offered this year due to lack of interest.

Don Poling, spokesman for the program, said registration for the program has not yet been sufficient for one class. He urged all who are interested to return registration forms to the high school building no later than tomorrow.

The program, with an objective of promoting Civil Defense adult education, is being offered through the cooperation of the State Department of Education and the local school administration.

The first meeting of the proposed class will be 7:30 p. m. March 26.

100-Mile Oil Pipeline Construction Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Construction will start within two weeks on about 100 miles of pipeline to serve the booming oil industry in Morrow County, the Morrow Transmission Corp. has announced.

The firm also said Tuesday it plans to put in a gas-scrubbing station just north of Cardington. This will eliminate the practice of "flaring," the burning of natural gas at the well, officials explained.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY: Rep. Gerald R. Ford, a member of the commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, says the inquiry may turn up ideas for improving the protection of American presidents.

The Michigan Republican said in a statement Tuesday the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, is scrutinizing presidential security measures.

Ford expressed hope the commission would complete its work and make its report to President Johnson early in the summer.

96 Persons Offer Kidney To Save Boy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Doctors were to start today the process of selecting a volunteer from 96 persons willing to donate a kidney so that 11-year-old Allan Scott Jr. may live longer.

Among the volunteers who have offered to help the boy are four persons with multiple kidneys. One of these could be selected for a kidney transplant.

The four volunteers include a Hamilton housewife and a greater Cleveland telephone operator—both of whom said they had three kidneys instead of the usual two. The other two, who said they have four kidneys each, are a grocer and a credit bureau representative.

Although such multiple kidneys are likely to be smaller than normal, doctors said, Allan, a freckle-faced boy from Garden City, Mich., is still a little boy and a small kidney might do.

Allan was stricken last summer with a kidney disease and his parents were told then he wouldn't live more than a few weeks. He was brought unconscious to Cleveland Clinic Feb. 1.

In the last six weeks he has responded to treatment with an artificial kidney—a machine that cleanses poisonous waste products from the blood. Doctors say a successful kidney transplant is the boy's only hope.

NO POLITICAL AMBITION: Some newsmen traveling through South Viet Nam with the secretary of defense thought they were seeing a new Robert S. McNamara.

The reserved Pentagon chief addressed crowds, shook hands and greeted children.

Was he warming up—as some speculation had it—to be President Johnson's running mate in November?

No, said a Defense Department spokesman Tuesday, McNamara has not caught the political bug.

VIET NAM: The United States has pledged full support to the South Viet Nam government "for as long as it is required to bring Communist aggression and terrorism under control."

The White House announced this Tuesday after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported to the National Security Council on their fact-finding mission to the Communist-threatened country.

Ruby Remains Impassive as Days Slip By in Jail

DALLAS (AP)—At 11:30 a.m. Saturday, when jury foreman Max E. Causey neatly printed the letters "DEATH" with a ball point pen on the blank provided, Jack Ruby sat impassively in his jail cell.

Neither Ruby nor anyone else outside the jury deliberation room knew whether the 52-year-old former strip joint operator had been found legally guilty or innocent of the slaying of President John F. Kennedy's accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

Less than an hour later, Ruby and the world heard Judge Joe B. Brown speak the words "and assess the penalty at death."

Courtroom observers noted that the defendant remained outwardly impassive.

Jack L. Ruby continues to appear impassive as the hours, and the days, slip by him in jail.

He plays dominoes and cards by himself. He eats when food is served and shaves with a double-edged razor and takes a shower when so directed.

Only Jack Ruby knows the Ruby thoughts.

"Hi, Phil, how are you today," Ruby greets defense lawyer Phil Burleson. The lawyer visits almost daily.

Burleson said Ruby has asked for nothing special since the verdict and has not requested to see anyone but his lawyers and relatives.

"I've talked with him about the appeal and tried to make him understand that it will take time, the Dallas attorney commented. "Jack seems to feel confident that he will get a fair review."

Burleson said Ruby is in good health. His mental framework "is as good as can be expected under the circumstances."

Chief jailer E. L. Holman said Ruby seems calmer now than when he was being taken to and from the courtroom twice daily during the trial.

"He's doing all right, Holman says. "He doesn't give us any trouble. He never has."

Ruby has three adjoining cells to himself. A walking area 12x25 feet fronts on the cell tier. It is here that Ruby plays his lone games of dominoes and cards on a bare table.

GETS IN AND DIGS—A mandrel operator at Goodyear's Akron, O., plant winds rubber filler around a 32-inch-diameter hose—one of the largest of more than 1,000 varieties—which will be used for dredging harbors and inland waterways. After this operation, steel reinforcing wire will be wound between the strips of rubber.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY: Rep. Gerald R. Ford, a member of the commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, says the inquiry may turn up ideas for improving the protection of American presidents.

The Michigan Republican said in a statement Tuesday the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, is scrutinizing presidential security measures. Ford expressed hope the commission would complete its work and make its report to President Johnson early in the summer.

96 Persons Offer Kidney To Save Boy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Doctors were to start today the process of selecting a volunteer from 96 persons willing to donate a kidney so that 11-year-old Allan Scott Jr. may live longer.

Among the volunteers who have offered to help the boy are four persons with multiple kidneys. One of these could be selected for a kidney transplant. The four volunteers include a Hamilton housewife and a greater Cleveland telephone operator—both of whom said they had three kidneys instead of the usual two. The other two, who said they have four kidneys each, are a grocer and a credit bureau representative.

Although such multiple kidneys are likely to be smaller than normal, doctors said, Allan, a freckle-faced boy from Garden City, Mich., is still a little boy and a small kidney might do.

Allan was stricken last summer with a kidney disease and his parents were told then he wouldn't live more than a few weeks. He was brought unconscious to Cleveland Clinic Feb. 1.

In the last six weeks he has responded to treatment with an artificial kidney—a machine that cleanses poisonous waste products from the blood. Doctors say a successful kidney transplant is the boy's only hope.

NO POLITICAL AMBITION: Some newsmen traveling through South Viet Nam with the secretary of defense thought they were seeing a new Robert S. McNamara.

The reserved Pentagon chief addressed crowds, shook hands and greeted children. Was he warming up—as some speculation had it—to be President Johnson's running mate in November?

No, said a Defense Department spokesman Tuesday, McNamara has not caught the political bug.

VIET NAM: The United States has pledged full support to the South Viet Nam government "for as long as it is required to bring Communist aggression and terrorism under control."

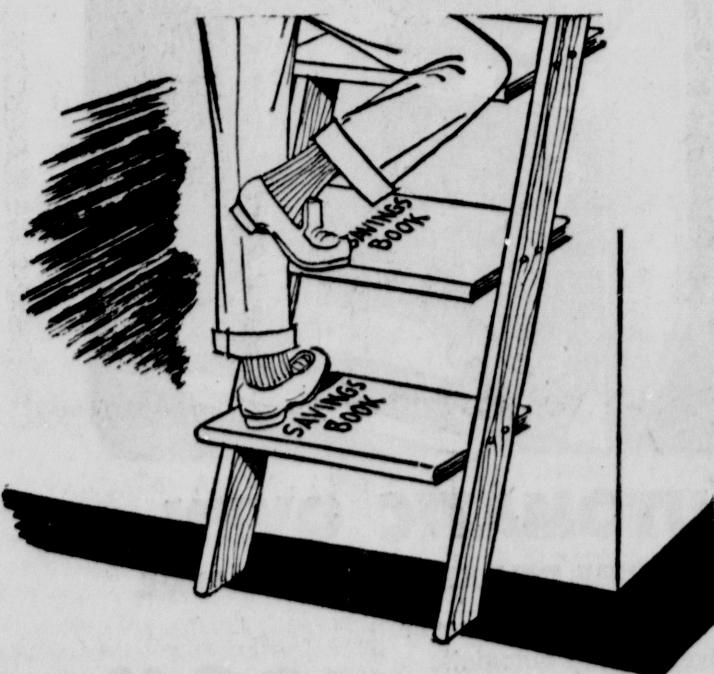

The White House announced this Tuesday after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported to the National Security Council on their fact-finding mission to the Communist-threatened country.

New School Boycott Is Delayed in Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, which sponsored a school boycott Feb. 11, said it has delayed plans for another boycott at the request of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Stores Its Own

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A cornstalk is like a camel in one way — it stores its own food. This report comes from University of Kentucky agronomists Bill Duncan and Al Hatfield. They say an experiment shows that corn stores sugar, which then keeps it growing at an even rate.

The agricultural researchers label as unfounded a belief among farmers that the final yield of the crop depends on the number of "good growing days" in a season.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Score one for French President Charles de Gaulle. Big Charley, in his uniform and military cap, did all right without laying a glove on President Johnson.

In his first jostle with Johnson the Frenchman came through smelling like a rose, even though they were miles apart in their encounter, while the American President put the Latin Americans in a tizzy.

The two men had a short talk here last November after President John F. Kennedy's funeral. It wasn't a formal talk. That was supposed to come this year. But then there was some confusion about it.

Were they supposed to meet here, or where? Johnson wanted it here. De Gaulle wanted it on an island in the Caribbean. So there was no meeting.

But then the Frenchman irritated the American government by recognizing Red China and on top of it decided to visit Mexico as part of his plan for getting good will and probably business for France in Latin America.

Johnson arranged to make a major speech to Latin-American ambassadors at the Organization of American States on the very day, Monday, that De Gaulle landed in Mexico, uniform and all.

If it went right, Johnson would get as much front-page play in Latin America as De Gaulle since his talk was on how the United States and its southern neighbors could pull together better. But it didn't go all right.

While De Gaulle did all the things in Mexico, Johnson didn't do them here, or at least the ambassadors didn't think so. One reporter, who knows the ambassadors, said they were shocked and astonished at Johnson's speech.

This is how it happened. For weeks a special OAS committee had been trying to get Panama and the United States to settle their dispute over the Panama Canal Zone.

After the riots at the zone last January, Panama severed diplomatic relations with this country. Panama demanded a revision of the 1903 treaty which says the United States can control the zone and the canal indefinitely.

The night before the Johnson speech the OAS announced the two sides had agreed to sit down and discuss the negotiate their differences.

Latin-American diplomats said before the OAS committee released its announcement it had sought and got the approval of Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Maumee Conservancy Cost Estimate Drops

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Judges in the Maumee watershed Conservancy District Court heard encouraging reports Tuesday regarding improvements in the Little Auglaize River and its tributaries.

The district, ending a two-day meeting, was told that ultimate drainage improvements were expected to cost more than $1 million.

er story: that there had been no agreement, that Mann hadn't approved the announcement, that he had said he would need time to consider it, and that he consulted Johnson.

At any rate—this was Sunday night—a few hours after the announcement Republican senators denounced it. They didn't think the administration should agree to "negotiate" on the treaty. They said it looked like surrender.

A few hours after the Republicans said what they had on their minds, a so-called "high U.S. source" made a joke of the OAS announcement by saying there had been no agreement.

The next day, Monday, Johnson went to the OAS to make his speech. He had it all prepared in writing. It turned out not to be a very good speech. It was hardly more than a collection of friendly and pious statements.

Even so, if this had been all, while it might have disappointed the ambassadors it wouldn't have been enough to astonish them. Johnson proceeded to astonish them by injecting something that wasn't in the prepared speech.

He made official what the "high source" had said the night before. He said there had been no meeting of the minds with Panama.

Thus, in a talk which was supposed to be all about cooperation he (1) injected the sore subject of Panama and (2) in effect, told the OAS to its face that its special committee's announcement was all wet.

Johnson Asks Congress OK Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has asked Congress to increase the pay of government employees.

Unless such legislation is enacted, he said, two million federal workers will be deprived of "fair and reasonable pay adjustments," and it will be more difficult to recruit and retain top-flight men and women.

In identical letters to Speaker John W. McCormack and Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., president Johnson did not specify how much the pay levels of government employees should be increased.

He made it clear that if members of Congress feel they should delay increasing their salaries until next year, "even though they are most deserving of an increase in pay," he wanted pay raises this election year for others on the federal payroll.

The House last week defeated a bill to increase top federal salaries, including those of members of Congress, by $10,000 a year.

A bill providing a similar pay raise for federal employees, leaving out members of Congress, was introduced Monday.

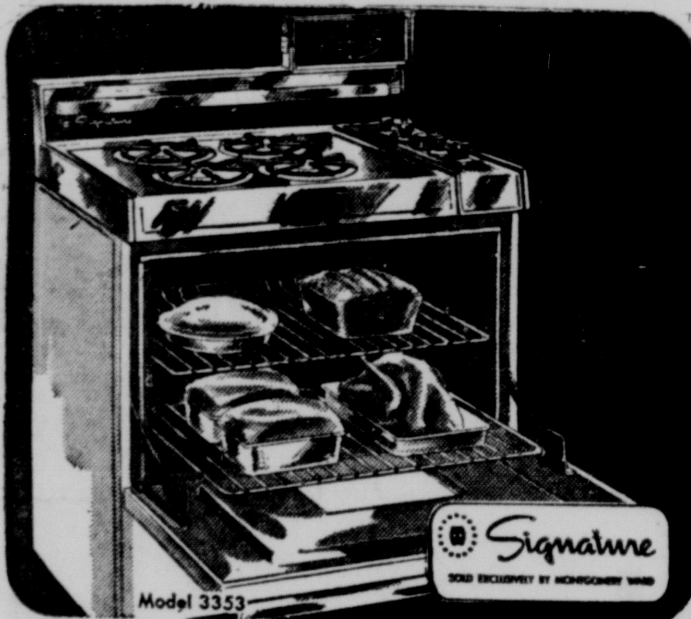

Johnson said the money needed to increase federal salaries is included in his budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Even so, if it had been all, while it might have disappointed the ambassadors it wouldn't have been enough to astonish them. Johnson proceeded to astonish them by injecting something that wasn't in the prepared speech.

He made official what the "high source" had said the night before. He said there had been no meeting of the minds with Panama.

Thus, in a talk which was supposed to be all about cooperation he (1) injected the sore subject of Panama and (2) in effect, told the OAS to its face that its special committee's announcement was all wet.

PLASMA ENGINE—It's a plasma engine, being operated by Raymond W. Palmer in NASA's Lewis Research Center Electromagnetic Propulsion Division, Cleveland. This is the engine that some day may propel man through space. A neutral plasma of electrons and ions is produced in the source at left, and moves to the right and is accelerated by a moving magnetic field (the four black coils). The acceleration produces thrust.

Johnson Asks Congress OK Pay Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has asked Congress to increase the pay of government employees.

Unless such legislation is enacted, he said, two million federal workers will be deprived of "fair and reasonable pay adjustments," and it will be more difficult to recruit and retain top-flight men and women.

In identical letters to Speaker John W. McCormack and Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., president protom of the Senate, Johnson did not specify how much the pay levels of government employees should be increased.

He made it clear that if members of Congress feel they should delay increasing their salaries until next year, "even though they are most deserving of an increase in pay," he wanted pay raises this election year for others on the federal payroll.

The House last week defeated a bill to increase top federal salaries, including those of members of Congress, by $10,000 a year.

A bill providing a similar pay raise for federal employees, leaving out members of Congress, was introduced Monday.

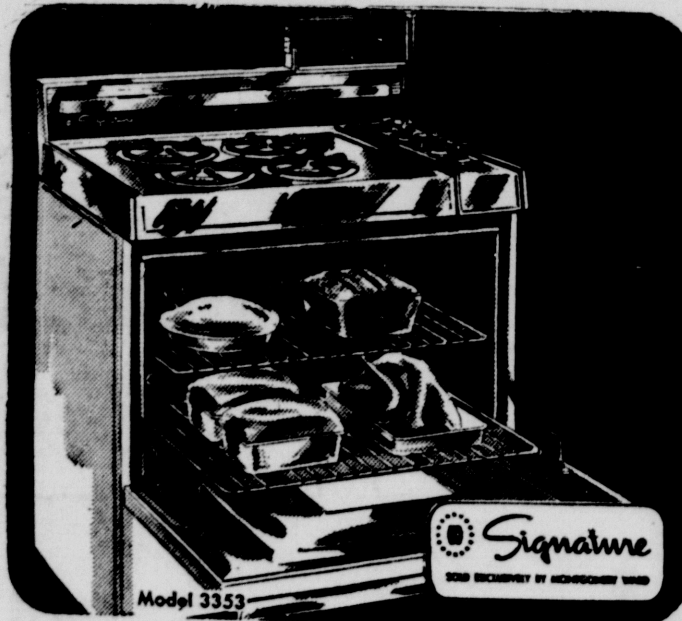

Johnson said the money needed to increase federal salaries is included in his budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League met at Ashville Council House, last week with Marvin Hicks presiding.

The group ordered a candy, which will be sold starting May 2. In case of bad weather, the date will be moved back to May 9.

The League voted to allow Roy Binion to enter a team in Columbus League competition this year. The group passed a resolution stating each boy in little league competition must play a minimum of two innings each game.

A resolution was also passed restricting competition in Babe Ruth League to boys in the 13-15 year age bracket. A total of 11 men have agreed to serve as managers.

More managers are still needed. Those interested may contact Hicks. The next meeting has been set for 7 p.m., Mar. 26 in the Ashville Council House.

Reds Lose First Game In Practice

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, dropped from the undefeated class mostly on weak pitching, will send two veteran hurlers and a rookie against the Houston Colts today in the Grapefruit League.

The St. Louis Cardinals out-hit Cincinnati, 10-7, Tuesday for a 4-2 victory, handing the Reds their first exhibition loss in four games.

Don Seisert worked the first four innings for Cincinnati and was charged with the defeat. The Cardinals tore into the 19-year-old left-hander for two runs in the second inning and another in the third on three singles, all after two outs.

Vada Pinson and Chico Cardenas led the Reds' hitting. Pinson drove a ball over the right field fence in the eighth inning for his first homer of the spring.

Jim Dickson and Marv Fodor, both rookies, also pitched for Cincinnati. Fodor gave up four hits and Dickson one.

The Reds play Houston at Tampa today, and Manager Fred Hutchinson planned to use veterans Joey Jay and John Tsitouris and rookie Phil Henderson.

Downing also had games of 212 and 173 for a 685 total.

Scout Troop 155 Completes NRA Hunter-Safety Course

National Rifle Assn. safety hunter awards have been given to 30 Boy Scouts of Troop 155, sponsored by the EUB Church.

The hunter safety classes were conducted by Circleville Patrolman Wesley Barton and assistant scoutmaster Rodger McLaughlin.

Sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police Associates, the course is designed to teach safety in the handling of firearms and create a better understanding between the youthful hunter and farmers.

The classes have been conducted in groups of 12 scouts at a time in the indoor range of the Circleville Police Department.

BARTON, a registered instructor, and his assistants, hope this summer to keep all interested young men busy with a program conducted under the rules of the National Rifle Assn.

Arrangements are now being completed to have access to both indoor and outdoor ranges where local youthful participants may win awards, trophies given under the requirements specified by the NRA.

Barton and the FOPA are offering the hunter safety course to any young group in the city. Inquiries should be directed to Barton at the local Police Department.

The following boys have completed the four hour course of instruction and firing and have passed a written examination and fired a passing score under supervision:

Danny Graham, Stephen Holbrook, Rickey Connolly, Richard McLaughlin, Darrel Goodman, William Ridley, Rickey Jacobs, Jerry Smallwood, Danny Fausnaugh, David Justice, Cris Long.

UCLA Pilot Says Pressure No Problem to His Team

KANSAS CITY (AP)—UCLA won't be bothered by the pressure of an unbeaten season in the final rounds of the NCAA basketball championship.

"We feel we're starting a new season," Bruin Coach John Wooden said.

"Our kids were pressing to complete the regular season undefeated. They made it. And that took the pressure off. Now we feel we're starting all over again."

"If we get beat, it won't be because of that kind of pressure. It'll just be because we played a better team."

The top-ranked Bruins take a 28-0 record into Friday night's semifinal match with Kansas State, the Big Eight champ with a 22-5 mark. Michigan, 22-4, plays Duke, 25-4, in the other semifinal.

UCLA beat Kansas State and Michigan romped over Duke in regular season play, but all four coaches, speaking over a four-way telephone hookup Tuesday, agreed those December results could be discounted.

"It was obvious when we played Kansas State that they were experimenting, looking for the right combination. Apparently they found it. They've come a long way since then," Wooden said.

Michigan's Dave Strack, whose Wolverines bombed Duke

83-67, said his team isn't taking the Blue Devils lightly.

"We're not looking past them Strack said. 'No sir. We're not looking past anyone. We're just looking forward to Friday night. We're going in with respect for everyone and fear of no one.'"

Duke's Vic Bubas said his team had matured since the loss to Michigan.

"We think more aggressively, play more aggressively now," he said. "We are a more confident team now. Our scoring balance is better and we're a little better off defensively."

Tex Winter of Kansas State said his team is now "as good as any team that's going to be there."

"UCLA is very difficult to play against. When they beat us, we just weren't real well prepared to handle the kind of problems UCLA presents. We're a little better prepared now."

The teams took their final workouts on home courts today. All are scheduled to arrive in Kansas City Thursday and will have brief workouts at the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium, site of the Friday night semifinals and Saturday finals.

None has ever won the championship.

Hawks Get
New Chance
At NBA Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks will get one more shot at a piece of the National Basketball Association's Western Division crown.

The Hawks trimmed Detroit 115-99 Tuesday night, cutting San Francisco's Western lead to a game and retaining a mathematical chance to tie the Warriors for the title.

If St. Louis beats Detroit in its season wind-up tonight and Philadelphia upends San Francisco, the Hawks and Warriors will play off for the No. 1 spot.

The war is over for New York's weary Knickerbockers who closed out another nightmarish season by losing to Boston 127-121. Los Angeles finished its regular season business on a happier note, trimming Philadelphia 121-97 on the West Coast.

St. Louis Coach Harry Gallatin rested his regulars after they'd gunned to a 25-point quarter lead over Detroit, then had to rush in the starters when the Pistons closed the gap to six late in the game. A couple of hook shots by Cliff Hagan, top St. Louis scorer with 24 points, put an end to the Pistons' bid.

The Celtics, trailing 78-74 midway through the third period, cut loose with 11 straight points and pulled away from the Knicks. Bill Russell and Sam Jones led the breakthrough and finished with 24 and 26 points, respectively.

Los Angeles buried Philadelphia with a 41-point third quarter after being held to a 48-48 intermission tie. Jerry West's 31 points were high for the Lakers. Paul Neuman had 22 for the 76ers.

Donohoe Is Selected
As New Flyer Coach

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Don Donohoe, University of Dayton graduate and one-time captain of the Flyers' basketball team, will succeed the late Tom Blackburn as head coach.

The Very Rev. Raymond A. Roesch, university president, announced the appointment of Donohoe Tuesday. Donohoe, 32, had been Blackburn's assistant for the past two seasons.

Blackburn died March 6 of lung cancer after 17 years at the Flyers' helm.

PCC Men's Golf Assn. Sets
Calendar for Summer Season

The Men's Golf Assn. of the Pickaway Country Club has completed its schedule for the coming season.

First on the agenda is the registration for the golf league, slated to begin competition May 5.

Tom Cassidy, Pickaway Country Club golf pro, said deadline for the registration is April 20. Competition in the league will be conducted every Tuesday.

The annual Spring Roundup has been scheduled May 23. The best ball two some with blind partners on May 30 will complete the month's activities.

QUALIFYING rounds for the Southeastern Ohio Golf Assn. tournament will be held May 17 through June 7.

Registration for the district tournament will be June 21. Cassidy said 36 holes of golf must be completed by July 11 to qualify.

The pony tournament will be held July 4 and a best ball four-some has been scheduled July 12.

From July 12 until Aug. 2, qualifying rounds for the club championship will be conducted.

The first round of the club championship is scheduled Aug. 16. The second round is Aug. 23 the third round Aug. 30, and the fourth round Sept. 6.

The finals are slated Sept. 7. Tentative plays have been initiated for the first Pickaway Autumn Invitational, scheduled Sept. 12. The final event of the year is the fall roundup Sept. 19.

Queen Will Be Selected
At Kiwanis Horse Show

A queen will be chosen to reign over the annual Circleville Kiwanis Horse Show, scheduled, May 30-31, it has been announced by co-chairmen Allen Ankrom and Tom Bennett.

Plans are currently being formulated for all high schools in the county to be represented by a queen. From this group, the public will choose the reigning lass for the horse show.

A voting booth will be established at the horse show entrance and with the purchase of each admission ticket the buyer will have one vote for a candidate.

A strong campaign is anticipated by the Kiwanians. Advance tickets will be distributed to each school to give students good opportunity to promote their candidate.

THE CANDIDATES will be entertained at a Kiwanis dinner. They will receive trophies and gifts at the show.

The show will offer a fund raising opportunity to any local organization. Ankrom and Bennett said. Any group selling advance show tickets will be permitted to retain 25 percent of the sales.

Organizations wishing to benefit from the ticket sales may contact a member of the ticket committee. They are Tom Downing, Eugene (Doc) Owens and Charles Hart.

The Kiwanis Charity Horse Show is considered one of the largest and finest annual sports events locally.

Wittenberg
Coach Plans
To Retire

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Ralph E. (Tom) Ness winds up a 40-year coaching-teaching career this spring when he retires as Wittenberg University's associate professor of health and physical education.

Ness was a three-year half-back at Wittenberg, captaining the team as a senior in 1923.

Before returning to the university in 1950, as head football coach and athletic director, he had coached football at Lakewood, Portsmouth, Greenville and Miamisburg high schools. His 26-year high school record was 173 victories against 67 losses and 19 ties.

He was president of the Ohio Football Coaches Association in 1949.

Since 1955, when he resigned as football coach and athletic director, he has served as head of the university's intramural program and as golf coach.

The Wittenberg Alumni Association will recognize his 40 years of service Friday night at the Founders day dinner.

Rookie Tries On
Nellie Fox Shoes

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox' fabulous luck in striking big league gold with raw rookies seemed holding firm today in the person of second baseman Don Buford.

Buford, the International League's most valuable player at Indianapolis last season, is making the most of his chance to replace Nellie Fox, traded to the Houston Colts.

Buford's fielding has been faultless in the Pale Hose' first three exhibition games. He leads the club in hitting with 385 with five hits in 13 trips.

Scout Troop 155 Completes NRA Hunter-Safety Course

National Rifle Assn. safety hunter awards have been given to 30 Boy Scouts of Troop 155, sponsored by the EUB Church.

The hunter safety classes were conducted by Circleville Patrolman Wesley Barton and assistant scoutmaster Roger McLaughlin.

Sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police Associates, the course is designed to teach safety in the handling of firearms and create a better understanding between the youthful hunter and farmers.

The classes have been conducted in groups of 12 scouts at a time in the indoor range of the Circleville Police Department.

... ..

BARTON, a registered instructor, and his assistants, hope this summer to keep all interested young men busy with a program conducted under the rules of the National Rifle Assn.

Arrangements are now being completed to have access to both indoor and outdoor ranges where local youthful participants may win awards, trophies given under the requirements specified by the NRA.

Barton and the FOFA are offering the hunter safety course to any young group in the city. Inquiries should be directed to Barton at the local Police Department.

The following boys have completed the four hour course of instruction and firing and have passed a written examination and fired a passing score under supervision:

Danny Graham, Stephen Holbrook, Rickey Connolly, Richard McLaughlin, Darrel Goodman, William Ridley, Rickey Jacobs, Jerry Smallwood, Danny Fausnaugh, David Justice, Kris Long.

UCLA Pilot Says Pressure
No Problem to His Team

KANSAS CITY (AP)—UCLA won't be bothered by the pressure of an unbeaten season in the final rounds of the NCAA basketball championship.

"We feel we're starting a new season," Bruin Coach John Wooden said.

"Our kids were pressing to complete the regular season undefeated. They made it. And that took the pressure off. Now we feel we're starting all over again."

"If we get beat, it won't be because of that kind of pressure. It'll just be because we played a better team."

The top-ranked Bruins take a 28-0 record into Friday night's semifinal match with Kansas State, the Big Eight champ with a 22-5 mark. Michigan, 22-4, plays Duke, 23-4, in the other semifinal.

UCLA beat Kansas State and Michigan romped over Duke in regular season play, but all four coaches, speaking over a four-way telephone hookup Tuesday, agreed those December results could be discounted.

"It was obvious when we played Kansas State that they were experimenting, looking for the right combination. Apparently they found it. They've come a long way since then," Wooden said.

Tribe Denies Reports of Catcher Deal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Indians' General Manager Gabe Paul has scotched reports that veteran catcher John Romano may be traded to the Boston Red Sox.

Paul denied Tuesday that he and Tribe Manager Birdie Tebbets are thinking about trading either Romano or Joe Azcue, his rival for Cleveland's No. 1 catching job.

"Birdie's even more positive than I that we want both Romano and Azcue," said Paul. "And I'm positive that we need them."

"Because we've got two good ones, everybody in the league thinks we're about to give one of them away. Every time I discuss a deal with anyone in the league, Romano's name is one of the first to come up."

Paul discussed his catchers after a Boston newspaper published a report that a deal involving Romano is brewing between the Red Sox and the Indians.

Romano, sidelined a good part of last season with a broken hand, batted .216 in 89 games—45 points below his 1962 average. Azcue turned into quite a slugger when he took over the job and hit .284 in 94 games.

Awsome New Pitch Offered By Koufax

Mets Get 2 Hits In 5 Innings Against Sandy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the opposition, the discouraging thing about Sandy Koufax isn't his awesome fast-ball or his sharp-breaking curve or the combination of the two, which renders hitters virtually helpless. It's the thought of him adding another pitch.

Koufax made his Grapefruit League debut Tuesday and had New York Met hitters lunging and lurching at an assortment of pitches which included a new weapon — something Koufax needs about as much as J. Paul Getty needs another million.

The addition was a blooper pitch, something like the one tip Sewell flashed at National League hitters in the 1940s. Sandy displayed it three times, getting it over twice for strikes in his five inning stint.

"I'm serious about the pitch," said Koufax. "As long as I can throw it for a strike, I'll use it."

The old Koufax arsenal was more than enough against the Mets, who managed just two hits. In their short history of futility, the Mets have been at their lovable worst against Koufax with a total production of exactly one run in 43 innings of exhibition and regular season action against the Dodger ace since May 1962.

Once rid of Koufax, who fanned seven, the Mets broke loose against old teammate Bob Miller with Frank Thomas' two-run homer the major blow. Los Angeles weathered the storm for a 5-3 victory.

Unbeaten St. Louis handed Cincinnati its first setback 4-2. Starter Harry Fanok doubled home the first two Cardinal runs and hurled three shutout innings to pick up the victory. Vada Pinson homered for the Reds.

Bob Buhl, Cal Koonce and rookie Sterling Slaughter limited the Los Angeles Angels to three hits for a 2-0 Chicago Cub victory. Lou Brock tagged loser Ken McBride for a solo homer.

The Minnesota Twins feasted on New York Yankee frontline pitching for a 7-2 victory, New York's third setback in four starts. Vic Power had four singles and Jimmie Hall a solo home run for the Twins as Al Downing, Ralph Terry and Whitely Ford hurled for the Yanks.

Felipe Alou slammed a homer and a two-run triple as the Milwaukee Braves unleashed a 13-hit attack for an 8-1 victory over the Kansas City A's.

Rookie Rico Carty also homered for the Braves, who had managed just three runs in two shutout victories before facing the depleted Athletic staff.

The San Francisco Giants bunched four singles for three runs in the sixth inning and then held on for a 4-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Willie McCovey's three hits led the Giants' attack.

Norm Cash and Willie Horton slugged home runs as the Detroit Tigers dumped Philadelphia's Phillies 8-2. Cash drove in five runs as Detroit evened its Citrus record at 2-2.

Skinny Brown, Larry Yellin and Larry Bohannon allowed just three Baltimore hits as the Houston Colts nipped the Orioles 3-2 in 11 innings. Bohannon's one-out single delivered the winning run for the Colts.

Ted Savage smashed a two-run homer and the Pittsburgh Pirates came up with a run in the bottom of the 10th inning to edge Washington 5-4.

Business Briefs

Norfolk and Western Railway has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve substantial a cross-the-board rate reductions on whole grain shipments to various points in Virginia from Columbus and Cincinnati. The rates would become effective April 1.

Delivery of 50 large, 5200 cubic foot grain hopper cars to the N&W is now expected to begin on April 21. These cars, the largest of their type in use, will permit a sizable reduction in present rates. The Southern Railway has employed the so-called "Big John" grain hoppers for more economical grain shipments in the Southeast for sometime, but the largest of these cars is only about 4900 cubic feet.

The proposed rate cuts will depend on destination and will primarily affect corn and wheat. Present and proposed reductions to various Virginia points are as follows: Roanoke, $6.93 and $4.21; Harrisonburg, $6.93 to $4.38; Chilhowie (branch line), $12.90 to $4.49; Lynchburg, $11.10 to $4.44; and Norfolk, $11.10 to $6.55.

Kenneth Waidelich, 118 E. High St., was one of 18 completing a Retail Salesmanship Course for selected Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative sales personnel throughout southeastern Ohio. The graduation ceremony was held yesterday in Lancaster.

The 60-hour course, sponsored by Landmark Farm Bureau Cooperative, Columbus, covered all phases of selling and servicing customers. Sessions were held in Lancaster for a 10-week period.

The course was under the instruction of Harold Crone, sales training director of the state Landmark organization.

Norfolk and Western Railway has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve substantial across-the-board rate reductions on whole grain shipments to various points in Virginia from Columbus and Cincinnati. The rates would become effective April 1.

Delivery of 50 large, 5200 cubic foot grain hopper cars to the N&W is now expected to begin on April 21. These cars, the largest of their type in use, will permit a sizable reduction in present rates. The Southern Railway has employed the so-called "Big John" grain hoppers for more economical grain shipments in the Southeast for sometime, but the largest of these cars is only about 4900 cubic feet.

The proposed rate cuts will depend on destination and will primarily affect corn and wheat. Present and proposed reductions to various Virginia points are as follows: Roanoke, $6.93 to $4.38; Harrisonburg, $6.93 to $4.38; Chilhowie (branch line), $12.90 to $4.49; Lynchburg, $11.10 to $4.44; and Norfolk, $11.10 to $6.55.
